JOB DONE BY PM WINS 60 PER CENT APPROVAL

TORONTO (BUP)—Gallup Poll of Canada reported today that 60 per cent of Canadians approve the job being done by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

The nation-wide poll, conducted by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, said that in a similar survey last November, only 51 per cent of the voters approved of Mr. Diefenbaker's handling his job as prime minister.

On a regional basis, 68 per cent of those in the four western provinces approved Mr. Diefenbaker, 66 per cent in Ontario, 44 per cent in Quebec and 61 per cent in the Maritimes.

Russia Backs Nuclear-Free Zone Project

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia tonight promised to respect an atom-free zone in Central Europe if the United States, Britain and France did the same.

EGYPT-SUDAN SETTLE DISPUTE

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Egypt and Sudan settled their border dispute at talks in Cairo today, it was reported here tonight.

Cold War End By Summit Mac's Hope

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan today expressed the hope that some progress might be made at an East-West summit conference to end the "twilight between peace and war" in which the world now lives.

Opening a two-day foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, Macmillan said he is not without hope that some progress might be made toward relieving the pressures which have created this twilight—"a twilight almost like a nightmare."

"I want a summit conference but I do want it to be successful," he said.

"Positive disillusionment is more dangerous than the preservation of even the most tenuous expectation and I really do not want to have that again."

Macmillan said he saw disarmament as the subject that seemed likely to lead to some success at a summit conference. If any progress could be made that would be by far the greatest contribution to the restoration of hope for the peoples of the world.

Plane Wreckage Found

NAPLES, Italy (UP)—Searchers today found the wreckage of a U.S. Air Force C-47 on towering Mount Vesuvius where it crashed just a few minutes after takeoff Saturday. An air force spokesman said there appeared to be no survivors among the 16 persons aboard.

$3.9 Billion Aid Requested by Ike

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress for $3,942,100,000 in foreign aid. He said any sharp cut would lead to a massive increase in defence spending and higher taxes.

A cut would also result in a heavy increase in inductions of American youth into the armed forces, he said, and leave the United States eventually bequeathed in a world dominated by Communism.

Eisenhower called the aid plan a deterrent to general nuclear war and added: "For the safety of our families, for the future of our children and our continued existence as a nation, we cannot afford to slacken our support of the mutual security program."

The Soviet government declared in a statement that a pledge from the nuclear-armed powers is needed for "the effective implementation" of a Polish plan for an atom-free zone.

Such a pledge, it said, would mean that states in the atom-free zone—East and West Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia—could not be armed with nuclear and rocket weapons from outside. It would bind the pledging powers to respect the status of the zone.

"The Soviet government is prepared to assume the aforementioned obligations, provided the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France do likewise," the statement said.

Tonight's statement said an atom-free zone on the lines suggested by Poland would help other steps aimed at eliminating the dangers of atomic war. It said the plan would help world peace because central Europe is "one of the most dangerous regions."

BANS NUCLEAR WEAPONS
The Soviet statement said NATO forces directly face those of the Warsaw Pact with an unusual concentration of troops and various modern weapons.

The Polish plan, first proposed by Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki last October, calls for the prohibition of all nuclear weapons in the designated countries.

In addition, it calls upon the Big Four powers to pledge not to use nuclear weapons against the zone or to try to arm their allies within the zone with such weapons.

Some details of the Polish plan were spelled out in a memorandum delivered to the Big Four and other powers last Friday. The memorandum recommended the creation of an effective control system of land and air inspection in the suggested zone.

It proposed that the four countries of the zone should start negotiations immediately or make unilateral declarations in favor of the plan.

Tonight's Soviet proposal suggested an early withdrawal of rockets and nuclear weapons from the atom-free zone without awaiting full approval of the Polish plan.

It declared, however, that Britain and the United States so far have refused "to accept such a radical measure as the banning of atomic and hydrogen weapons and the exclusion of them from armaments."

The strong appeal went to Congress against the background of an already-intense drive by some members to make sharp cuts in the program, particularly the economic-aid phase.

Eisenhower asked for $2,635,000,000 for military aid and related defence support. The balance — $1,307,100,000 — is mainly for economic aid.

In pressing once more for economic assistance for newly-independent countries, he said the Communist bloc is trying to lure the new countries with offers of such help.

Eisenhower last year asked Congress for just a shade under $4,000,000,000 in funds, as he did today for the new program. Last year only $2,800,000,000 was appropriated.

FITTING 'HAT' FOR OCCASION

Unofficial badge of office, a welder's helmet, was donned today by past president George Wilkinson, Vancouver, in preparation for the fourth annual convention of the Pipe Line Contractors' Association of Canada at the Empress Hotel. More than 350 contractors have registered for the convention which

COLD LOSING GRIP IN U.S.; TOLL AT 209

NEW YORK (CP)—The season's coldest and stormiest weather in the eastern half of the United States appeared easing in some sections today, but the overall picture was not bright.

Business and industry, dealt staggering blows by the violent weather, worked to restore operations to normal.

There were still isolated rural villages, marooned farmers, fuel and food shortages after the worst snowstorm in years in many places. Transportation was hard hit.

The economic loss is expected to run into millions of dollars. The latest count of deaths attributed to the stormy-cold weather reached 209 in areas from the east to Missouri and Iowa and from Maine to Alabama.

Martin Spoke 'Half-Truths' Says Alderman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ald. George Miller claimed Tuesday that provincial Health Minister Eric Martin spoke only half-truths when he said Vancouver gets the highest per capita provincial aid of any Canadian city.

Mr. Miller is deputy chairman of the city's administration board and city council's financial expert.

He said the city did not get anything like the amount taken from it in provincial taxes.

"We get nothing like our fair share of the five-per-cent sales tax and we get a mere pittance from the gasoline tax which is supposed to be for building our highways," said Mr. Miller.

He said other B.C. cities get higher per capita grants and the government pays for highways through other municipalities.

Turncoat Engineered Plane Hijacking Plot

By CHARLES SMITH
SEOUL (UP)—South Korean Home Minister Lee Kwon Jik said today Kim Kyung, a one-time turncoat from the North Korean army engineered the international hijacking of a South Korean airliner with 34 persons aboard.

The North Korean Red Cross has ignored a plea by the International Red Cross to help return any of the passengers taken to North Korea against their will, including two Americans and two Germans.

Mrs. Willis Hobbs, wife of the plane's American pilot, flew from Hong Kong to Korea with her two small children today in hopes her husband would be released.

Home Minister Lee said a police investigation indicated seven persons aboard the Korean National Airlines DC-3

24 Sailors Swept to Death As Raging Sea Upsets Boat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Twenty-seven sailors who had abandoned the sinking Italian freighter Bonitas were pitched into the stormy Atlantic Tuesday night when their lifeboat capsized as a rescue ship tried to pluck them to safety.

Three were saved and 24 were swept away by 20-foot seas.

Throughout the night, the American liner President Adams, three navy destroyer escorts and the French steamship Cavalaire searched vainly for the missing men in poor visibility.

The stricken freighter's crew abandoned ship in one lifeboat shortly before 6 p.m., several hours after the ship had sent an SOS from her position 120 miles east of Cape Lookout, N.C.

HIGH SEAS, GALE

The President Adams reached the Bonitas about 8 p.m. but informed the Coast Guard in Norfolk that she had trouble getting to the lifeboat because of "high seas, blinding snowstorm and gale winds."

The Bonitas' crew tried to bring their lifeboat alongside the liner, but the heavy seas and the roll of the ship caused the boat to capsize.

"Rescued two men from over Adams stern and launched Adams boat in attempt to rescue men in water," said the liner's message to the Coast Guard.

"Picked up one additional survivor, but due darkness and snow storm men drifted away." The liner reported the Bonitas, which carried a cargo of manganese, still afloat "but down by the head, with Nos. 1 and 2 holds flooded." The message said it might be possible to tow the Bonitas to port if the ship remained afloat and the weather moderated during the day.

The rescued trio were identified as the Bonitas' skipper, Capt. Ienazin Marini, a deckboy and a fireman.

Investigators said Kim apparently was ordered to steal the plane by a North Korean espionage agent identified only as Kang. They said Kang was believed to have masterminded the plot but was not on the plane. Kang and Kim were schoolmates in North Korea.

100-MILE GALE WRECKS MARINE BASE, ZEBALLOS

ZEBALLOS, B.C. (CP)—This west coast Vancouver Island port is rallying today after being heavily damaged by a 100-mile-per-hour gale overnight. No one was injured.

Shipping, marine facilities and airport facilities were hardest hit. One 42-foot tug was sunk and five others badly damaged.

Four fishermen's floats were wrecked and 500 feet of the Standard Oil Company's docks, together with fuel pipes, were demolished.

IN B.C. MENTAL HOSPITALS

Working Conditions Termed 'Scandalous'

An official of the B.C. Mental Health Association claimed today that working conditions in provincial mental institutions are "scandalous."

"People in the mental health field in Canada have the attitude the B.C. service is a lousy place to work," said Jim Ward, executive secretary.

Mr. Ward said he did not believe denials by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black of cuts in services at the mental hospitals.

Orders for staff reductions are still in effect, Mr. Ward maintained, and a British medical specialist on his way to B.C. was stopped in Toronto and told his position was cancelled.

Meanwhile, a survey by a Vancouver newspaper showed four mental hospital buildings built in the last three years at a cost of $6,500,000 are empty and unused.

They are: A nurses' training centre at Essondale with facilities to train 300 and house 100 nurses; a 300-bed hospital for the aged at Port Coquitlam; a cut-stone recreation centre and chapel at Coquitlam; and a gymnasium and swimming pool building at Woodland's School for retarded children.

In addition, other mental hospital buildings are only partially in use, including a new 380-bed building and the Cedar and Willow cottages at Woodlands.

Some 245 beds are vacant at Woodlands, although there is a waiting list of 40.

Mr. Black has blamed shortage of trained staff for the empty beds.

New Particulars In Bribery Charge

(Special to The Times)
(See Also Page 3)

VANCOUVER — The crown charged today that former Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers received considerations to a total of more than $15,000 in a conspiracy with others involving the issuance of forest management licences.

The figure was disclosed in particulars of the charges filed at the preliminary hearing in the bribery-conspiracy against Sommers, three other individuals, and four companies.

Defence counsel launched a strong attack against the particulars document in its original form. It was finally filed after deletion of an "effects" section which showed how the money had allegedly flowed from one to the other of the accused.

The defence declared this highly improper.

The particulars in the charges against Sommers showed the following entries:

Rugs to the value of $607.29, paid for by Pacific Coast Services—one of the accused firms—in September, 1953; $2,500 cash from H. W. Gray, another of the accused, Dec. 1, 1953; $1,000 in cash from H. W. Gray, Feb. 5, 1954; six $500 bonds from H. W. Gray between March 4 and May 18, 1954; $750 from H. W. Gray between March 4 and April 23, 1954; $500 cash from C. D. Schultz Ltd., another of the accused, July, 1954; $3,750 cash from H. W. Gray between August and September, 1954; and $1,000 cash from C. D. Schultz between October and December, 1954.

The particulars against Sommers also listed—but without giving amounts—payment by Pacific Coast Services for entertaining the former minister at the Terminal City Club in Vancouver and B.C. Forest Products' payment of Mr. Sommers' transportation on a visit to Toronto in 1953.

City prosecutor Stewart McMoran first introduced the particulars Tuesday but their filing was upheld pending a study by the defence.

COUNSEL OBJECTS
Today just before chief accountant Charles Eversfield returned to the stand to continue identification of documents, Schultz's counsel Alfred Bull told the court the particulars as presented were no answer at all to the request of the defence.

He took particular exception to a section of the particulars headed "effects."

At the request of Mr. Bull and with the agreement of the other eight defence counsels the "effects" section of the document was deleted but the remainder was filed and made public.

Mr. Bull said the document in its original form presumed an exercise of influence. But who, he asked, had been influenced, "the cabinet, the premier or whom?"

"We cannot defend a case like this unless we know precisely heard here quoted Chou as saying in the Red North Korean capital of Pyongyang that the "U.S. is faced with an inescapable responsibility of pulling out its troops and other Allied forces as a result of the announcement of withdrawal of Chinese People's volunteer troops."

However, American and South Korean spokesmen were skeptical of the Communist announcement, which they felt was made mainly for propaganda purposes.

Reds Quit Korea, Demand UN Pullout

TOKYO (UP)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai called tonight for the United States to pull out American and other United Nations troops from Korea.

The demand came shortly after Communist and North Korea announced the withdrawal from North Korea of the Red Chinese "volunteer" troops whose entry into the Korean conflict turned a victory into a stalemate.

maintains gave this warning also predicted that in 1957 national income, employment and business would increase, the Liberal leader said in a national television broadcast.

He appeared Tuesday night along with Mr. Diefenbaker on the CBC's live political program just before rejoining his campaign train in search of votes in Toronto and southwest ern Ontario. Mr. Diefenbaker was in Montreal.

Mr. Pearson has maintained all through the early part of the campaign that the Conservatives are responsible for aggravating unemployment because they didn't take speedy action last autumn to meet the economic recession through a bold, frontal attack.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A lesson in the gentle art of wheedling (which most wives practice on their husbands) was given in the House Tuesday by the evergreen Tom Uphill, who has represented the coal mining area of Fernie for 38 years.

A lone campaigner, a one-man Labor party, Tom is too wise a bird to attack a majority government when he wants something done for his constituents.

So, in preparing the way for a plaintive appeal on behalf of the unemployed miners of Fernie, he began by referring to "dear old friends" on the government side and said he was sorry Premier Bennett was out of the House as he wanted to put in "a good word" for him.

This had the desired effect of making everyone wonder what this "good word" could be.

"It's really too bad he isn't here," said Tom sadly, doubtless hoping this would make the premier wish he had been.

Then, turning his friendly full-moon face towards the empty chair vacated by Health Minister Eric Martin, he said: "I wanted to give him a boost, too, but he did me a very good turn once and I never forget a good turn."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner returned to his seat at that moment and wily Mr. Uphill practised a similar technique on him, wrapping up his bouquet with a reference to what the great British statesman, Lloyd George, would have done in the circumstances.

The Fernie member then cajoled the government by telling how B.C. Liberal Premier John Oliver had given $2,000 to Fernie in a similar crisis many years ago, and said he wished his dear friend Highways Minister Gagliardi could have been in the House.

Lo and behold, Mr. Gagliardi materialized a minute or so later. Mr. Uphill worked on him so successfully that the minister promised to do all he could and said: "Come over to my office and we'll see if we can figure out something."

An unexpected admirer of Tom Uphill is Eric Charman, president of Victoria Progressive Conservative Association.

Impaired Drivers Get 21-Day Terms

Two men were given 21-day jail terms when they pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to second offence charges of impaired driving.

ELECTION

The Conservatives, he said, made a wrong diagnosis of the situation. They thought the economy would brighten after a brief decline.

Instead, things worsened. Money and "political tranquillizers" were running out so the Conservatives called an election to avoid a national accounting.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker countered with the promise that he and his Progressive Conservative government will do "everything that can be done" to see that no Canadians suffer from unemployment.

The $1,850,000,000 works program he announced in Ottawa Tuesday was "to ensure development of our country and to provide, as well, help to Canadians, work to Canadians and an opportunity for the better things of life." (See page 27.)

He renewed his attempts to discount the Liberal party's major campaign pledge to counter unemployment—the promise of $400,000,000 in tax cuts.

TAX CUTS NOT NEEDED

The whole essence of the former Liberal government's policy, he said, was that tax cuts were unnecessary. The Liberals last year had described Conservative tax-cut demands as irresponsible.

It was a Conservative government last fall which acted immediately to cut taxes by $178,000,000 a year.

Mr. Diefenbaker quoted Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson as having said the Conservative government shouldn't be blamed for the unemployment situation.

At Minnedosa, Man., Social Credit leader Solon Low Tuesday also outlined a program to help relieve Canada's unemployment problem, predicting the total number of unemployed will reach 600,000 by March 15.

Mr. Low said the problem should be met by:

Reduced income and sales taxes.

Immediate bonus or dividend payments to old age pensioners, the blind and needy families.

QUICK RESULTS

Mr. Low said the bonus payments would have an immediate result. Persons receiving them would spend money at home and revive local business.

The reduced taxes and public works program would be long-range plans designed to keep business active and reduce surpluses.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, continuing to campaign in his constituency of Rosetown-Biggar, proposed a federal subsidy to ensure reasonable salaries of railway workers.

MISSING CITY MAN SHOWS UP AT CLINIC

Amnesia victim Arthur Yurkowski, 36, 695 Craigflower, showed up Tuesday afternoon at Crease Clinic, where he went on advice of relatives he visited at Chilliwack.

He telephoned his wife at about 2.45 p.m. to say that he was safe after going missing at noon Monday from what was an otherwise normal day of sales and deliveries.

Last June he was gone for a week, finally showing up at Calgary General Hospital where he recovered his memory, unable to explain how he got there.

Woman Loses Appeal Against Estate Terms

The appeal of a Nanaimo widow for a greater share in her late husband's estate was dismissed by the B.C. Appeal Court in Victoria late Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran gave judgment at 5.15 p.m. after a two-day hearing.

Emily Amelia Bearce appealed the terms of the will of Irving Asa Bearce, former manager of a lumber company, who died at Nanaimo, Nov. 12, 1953.

Mr. Bearce, formerly of 533 Arbutus, Nanaimo, will be $20,000 to his widow and the balance of his estate to two daughters by a previous marriage.

T. G. Norris, QC, for Mrs. Bearce, argued under terms of the Testators' Family Maintenance Act that the will did not sufficiently provide for her.

At one point in this argument, Mr. Justice O'Halloran observed that the widow of a successful man could not always expect to live as well after his death as she did at the peak of his earning powers.

"I know of judges' widows who have had to work in order to supplement their pensions," he said.

The Appeal Court's decision upheld that of Mr. Justice Wood on Jan. 6, 1956, in which he found that the will was what the husband wished.

The Appeal Court also ruled that cost of the action below the Appeal Court should come out of the estate other than the widow's share; but that Mrs. Bearce should pay 80 per cent of the costs in Appeal Court.

Juvenile Prowlers Surrender

A number of boys aged 14-16 years were to be referred to juvenile authorities after they turned themselves in to Oak Bay police in connection with a house prowling Tuesday night.

Neighbors of the huge old house on Harling Point near the Chinese cemetery told police inside the house.

When police arrived they saw one boy running over nearby rocks. The others had gone, but they left three bicycles behind, which police picked up.

The house has suffered from vandalism since it was vacated recently. Police noted also a door to the Chinese Cemetery bone storage house was open, "but the interior was in no more than the usual state of disorder."

The charges followed an RCMP investigation of documents taken by accountant Eversfield from the Pacific Coast Services offices when he left their employ in 1955.

The particulars as filed also set out transactions as between the Gray brothers, Mr. Schultz and the four companies accused.

'Forbidden Zone' French Proposal

PARIS (Reuters)—The French cabinet decided today to create a forbidden zone along the entire frontier between Tunisia and Algeria, in which no one will be allowed to live or travel.

A government spokesman announced the cabinet decision but declined to give details on how the ban would be applied.

He said France would reject Tunisia's call for the Bizerte naval base to be turned over to NATO or leased to any other party but the French. "Bizerte will remain the French port it is," he said.

The United Nations Security Council Tuesday adjourned its debate on Tunisia's complaint and France's countering protest that Algerian rebels received aid from Tunisia.

It was agreed to adjourn so that the United States and Britain could use their good offices in the dispute.

All-Canadian Unions Backed By Socred

PORT ALBERNI—Social Credit favors legislation to protect individual trade unions in Canada which might wish to throw off international affiliation, William Mullett, candidate for Comox-Alberni in the March 31 federal election, said here.

He said the British Columbia Alberta regional Social Credit convention in Vancouver passed his resolution stating Social Credit feels Canadian labor unions would be considerably strengthened if controlled in Canada.

While speaking at the convention last weekend, Mr. Mullett said $80,000,000 went to the United States from Canada last year in the form of union dues, and that less than $1,000,000 came back to this country.

$4,500 Sent To Sommers Says Witness

Money Went in Three Lots Between Dec. 1953, May 1954—Eversfield

By JOHN MIKA, Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Some $4,500 was sent to Robert Sommers between December, 1953, and May, 1954, by Charles Eversfield, former bookkeeper for Pacific Coast Services Ltd.

The money was sent in three lots, it was shown Tuesday as the prosecution's chief witness in the conspiracy and bribery preliminary hearing completed his first day on the witness stand.

Charged are Mr. Sommers, former lands and forests minister now sitting in the legislature as MLA for Rossland-Trail, P.C.S. Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., B.C. Forest Products Ltd., C. D. Schultz Ltd., Charles D. Schultz, John M. and H. Wilson Gray.

Mr. Eversfield identified some 70 exhibits, including photostats and some PCS records that he took with him when he quit the firm in 1955. Immediate explanations of the exhibits were given in only a few cases.

He was to identify about 30 more documents today before "he tells us what he knows

Statement From Victoria Postman

He did not say where or to whom the letter was sent, but Friday an untested statement by Victoria postal carrier George P. E. Lilley was read into the record in which he described delivering a registered letter to the Sommers' home Feb. 6, 1954.

Mr. Lilley's registered mail signature sheet for that day recorded the delivery of registered letter No. 16720.

Earlier Tuesday, Mr. Eversfield testified May 17, 1954, he mailed "on W. H. Gray's instructions" two $500 bonds which went to either Mr. or Mrs. Sommers.

(The registration certificate was numbered 19037 — which tallied with a registered mail signature sheet described by Victoria postal carrier Walter H. Wilson in an untested statement read Friday, Mr. Wilson delivered the letter to the Sommers' home May 18, 1954.)

Mr. Eversfield, during the course of four hours, identified scores of cheques, cheque counterfoils, expense vouchers, hotel bills, airline bills, invoices and photostatic copies of undated lists of figures.

Numerous objections were made by the defence to entry of many of the documents as exhibits, but Magistrate Oscar Orr overruled the objections.

Included in the exhibits was a photostat of a sheet of paper headed "fees to date—$26,000." It contained four columns of figures with a final entry — "received $38,088, $10,258, $26,327, $1,502."

"This photostat is a paper produced to me by H. W. Gray," Mr. Eversfield said. "I was to make a statement reconciling the figures on the paper, Mr. Gray's handwriting is on the bottom."

Another document dated Oct. 25, 1954, showed four columns of figures with the headings "Total, Cds., Hwg., Other."

It is dated June 6," he said.

The document was a lengthy recital of figures opposite notations such as: "Dec. 1/53 bank 2,500."

April 2nd bonds 2,000 ... Aug. 31 cash 3,750 ... (Nov.) 14/53 rugs $607 which totalled $14,607.

(Friday untested statements read into the record described payment of $607 by PCS for three rugs ordered and sent to Mr. and Mrs. Sommers.)

Another column listed: "CDS 12,696, HWG 7,500, HWG 5,000" for a total of 25,196 from which was subtracted 1,502 (opposite a notation CDS) and 5,923 for a final total of 17,770.

Last column on the document listed a series of figures totaling "34,160" under a heading "paid out."

A fourth document also was written by H. W. Gray in his presence, Mr. Eversfield said.

This document bore a series of figures totalling $63,300 and the notations "I wait and see them. 2. Do same job." Also written on it were "Tahis 4,500, EMP 15, BCFP 120."

At another point in his testimony, Mr. Eversfield described special marks he put on a book of promissory notes stubs and blank notes in February, 1955, when he gave some blanks to H. W. Gray.

During his description of photostatic items he took with him, from PCS, Mr. Bull raised an objection to their validity as evidence.

"If he purloined from his employers the originals, one could understand (their being entered as exhibits)."

"But these are only photocopies. The most awful frauds could be perpetrated with photostatic documents. There has been not proof of the copy."

He also objected to many of the exhibits seized by RCMP on the grounds that the police could not positively identify each one as having been in the possession of any particular person.

"You're entitled to have the evidence weighed but not thrown out entirely, I rule they have been proved (as exhibits)," Magistrate Orr said.

"This man's statement (to police) say these payments

Top Legal Minds In Tense Arena

By STAFF REPORTER

VANCOUVER—Some of the most adept legal minds on the West Coast are bunched together at three document-strewn tables in "A" court at the city police station here.

Virtually rubbing shoulders, eight defence lawyers and the city prosecutor are drawing on years of experience with the intricacies of the law in a legal "spectacular" that has drawn overflowing crowds daily to the preliminary hearing of the bribery and conspiracy charges against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other men and four companies.

Above the tense arena sits softspoken Magistrate Oscar Orr, himself the owner of a distinguished career at the bar before he was elevated to the bench as police magistrate.

Now 65, with a deep scar on his forehead resulting from a battle wound at Ypres, in the First World War, Magistrate Orr was chief prosecutor for Canada at the war crimes trials in Japan following the end of the Second World War.

His 21 years with the city prosecutor's office in Vancouver were interrupted by the Second World War when he served as assistant judge advocate general for the Pacific Military District with the army rank of major.

Before that he served as assistant city prosecutor from 1921 to 1931, followed by a decade as city prosecutor. He returned to this post in 1947 when he left Japan.

The following year he was appointed assistant police magistrate and in 1953 assumed his present post.

Now in his fifth year as city prosecutor, 38-year-old Stewart McMorran is engaged in the most important case of his career.

A graduate of the University of British Columbia, he was called to the bar in 1946 and one year later was appointed as assistant to the then city prosecutor, Orr.

On the other side of the prosecutor's table sits veteran court specialist Alfred Bull, QC, counsel for Charles D. Schultz and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

He has attained a widely recognized status as a brilliant trial expert since he began practicing in 1909. Mr. Bull joined the firm of Sir Charles Tupper in 1915 and has been with it since, rising to senior partner.

A past president of the Vancouver Bar Association, Mr. Bull has appeared in every court of the land, from police court to the Supreme Court of Canada. Before it was abandoned as the ultimate court of Canadian appeals, he appeared before the Privy Council in Great Britain.

He is assisted by H. R. Bowerling.

For Sommers

Chief counsel for Mr. Sommers is Angelo E. Branca, QC. Now 55, he was born at Mount Sicker on Vancouver Island and at one time was amateur middle-weight boxing champion of B.C.

A former Vancouver parks commissioner, he was called to the bar in 1926 at the age of 23. In 1955 his name hit newspaper headlines when he was removed from a courtroom by RCMP officers after a heated argument with Mr. Justice Manson during a trial.

Appropriations Hike Urged

Recommendation that 1958-59 appropriations of the department of agriculture be increased to meet farming industry needs has been made by the legislative agriculture committee.

The seven-point report, read to the House Tuesday, is based on a brief submitted to the committee by the advisory board of farmers' institutes.

It is unlikely to be accepted by the government.

The report also recommends that a review be made of present methods of taxation for school purposes to find a more equitable system.

Why He Loves the Press

IN A RATHER HALF-HEARTED intervention in the national election Mr. Bennett chooses the press of British Columbia as his main target. He quickly adds, however, that he loves the press and that the press should have the "intestinal fortitude" to endure criticism as he has often to endure it.

Mr. Bennett need not worry about the press on that score. It was used to criticism long before he appeared on the scene and will be receiving it long after he has disappeared. The press always has been, always will be and certainly should be a target of criticism since, by the nature of its business, it is the chief forum of public controversy. If it were not, the press would lose its usefulness.

It is only fair to say that Mr. Bennett, an old hand in public controversy, usually makes a distinction between the editorial and the news columns of the press. He knows that the editorial columns belong to the newspaper, which says there what it pleases as its own opinions; that the news columns belong to the public and are obligated to report the news without comment or opinions.

Yet sometimes Mr. Bennett confuses these two separate functions. He seems at the moment to feel that because many newspapers are critical of his policies in their editorial columns they also color their news columns against him.

Undoubtedly, from time to time, newspapers make errors. In almost all cases, however, these are errors of haste in a complicated process which must be condensed into a few hours, or minutes. Those cases are very few and are corrected immediately by the injured party.

By and large the truth is that Mr. Bennett has received from the news columns of the British Columbia press the most comprehensive and accurate treatment. We doubt, indeed, that any provincial politician in the history of Canada has ever commanded so much newspaper space as he has commanded, and still commands, from all the daily newspapers of this province. He is what the newspapers call "good copy."

He can speak as he pleases, at any hour of the day or night, to the whole people of British Columbia through the press. It will report anything and everything he chooses to say, even if the newspapers regard it as inaccurate or false. They report him in the news columns without any attempt to deny his frequent inaccuracies and often his absurdities. If these are criticized the criticism is confined to the editorial pages or signed columns of opinion which the public can read or not, as it desires.

But we question whether any criticism can keep up with Mr. Bennett's skilful propaganda. An unequalled master of this art, Mr. Bennett uses the press every day by giving out so-called news stories that, in fact, are nothing but free Social Credit advertising. He plays the news columns like an organist.

The press would not publish much of this material if it came from anyone but a responsible public servant. In the Premier's case the press feels and should feel an obligation to publish all his statements because they come from the leader of the government and the public is entitled to hear exactly what he says, right or wrong.

Mr. Bennett assuredly has a right to quarrel and argue with the opinions of the press in their editorial columns.

We do not think he has any right to quarrel with their news columns which, with infrequent lapses of inaccuracy, have given him fair and complete coverage. And what he says in the news columns is at least a hundred times larger in volume and much more widely read than any editorial criticism of him.

No wonder Mr. Bennett loves the press. He knows how to use it.

The Nation's Loss

CANADIANS OF ALL PARTIES will be very sorry to learn that Mr. Louis Stephen St. Laurent has retired from politics and will not be a candidate in the coming election.

Had he accepted nomination, his return to Parliament from Quebec East—an invulnerable Liberal seat—would have been assured.

His retirement is a distinct loss to this country. But after the service he has given to Parliament, to Canada, and, indeed, to the free world which appreciates his position as an architect of NATO, he is entitled to rest from the exacting duties of public life. Canadians will hope he may find happiness and enjoyment in the years ahead of him.

In these times it is doubtful if the accomplishments of Mr. St. Laurent can be fully recognized. It remains for history to make the final assessment.

No one, however, will question his great contribution to this nation and this age—a contribution marked at all times by a delicate and shining honor.

His abilities, character and service have been appreciated by his successor, Mr. Diefenbaker. The Prime Minister spoke for the nation in the simple and honest tribute, "He served Canada well."

It is to be hoped that Mr. Diefenbaker's words will help free some of his more partisan followers from a certain bitterness they have displayed locally toward a great Canadian.

Manoeuvring for What?

AS IN EARLIER DISCUSSIONS of disarmament, East and West have reached what President Eisenhower calls an "impasse" in trying to arrange a conference on world problems at the summit.

Russia's Premier Bulganin has specified that any such conference must deal with a list of ten subjects which he proposes. The eight topics which President Eisenhower suggested are, says the Soviet leader, to be adopted only if unanimously agreed upon by the conference.

In other words the Soviet topics would be obligatory, the American topics subject to Russian veto.

Such an arrangement naturally is not acceptable to the United States. Further insistence by Moscow on such a one-sided agenda will make it obvious that Soviet demands for a summit parley are for propaganda value only, and not made with any sincere intent to discuss and settle world problems.

Yank at Oxford

WHEREVER ENGLISH IS spoken and wherever those using it understand their debt to great institutions of learning, the decision of the American Ford Foundation to provide $1,000,000 for the restoration of the historic buildings of Oxford will be applauded.

This grant, unique in as much as the Ford Foundation allocates funds usually to assist the development of new projects, will meet one fifth of the costs of restoration planned for the great university town.

Here is a clear expression of appreciation for the contribution Oxford has made and continues to make to the world.

The complete project will take upwards of 10 years. When it is finished the magnificent buildings of Christopher Wren will have regained some of their early beauty. Fine carvings, dingy now under the layers of heavy varnish, will have reclaimed their earlier brightness and attractiveness. Old masonry will be made safe and a shrine of learning will become even more attractive to those people throughout the world who make pilgrimages to it.

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHOSE GOT ... By B. A. TOBIN

It's Up to Us

THAT was a pretty interesting experiment some fellow down in Texas carried out, having himself locked inside a large box for a week to see what it would be like travelling in space. He was completely cut off from the world and did not know what was going on outside his space machine.

They filled it up with instruments and gadgets for him to look after, as though he were really rocketing to the moon, and the air pressure was kept low. He couldn't see out, although technical experts could look in and watch him. He was just alone with his air purifier, his food, his knobs and dials—and himself. It must have been quite an ordeal.

The experimenter says, however, that at no time did he feel that he really was isolated out in space, and the chief reason was that, right in front of him, was a "panic button" which he could push if his air gave out or his nerves blew up.

Once he pushed the button, a dozen experts waiting within a few feet of him would rush to his assistance.

Of course, in a real space ship, there is no panic button. If something goes wrong "away out there" you've had it. There's nobody waiting outside to lift off the lid and bring you a breath of oxygen or a glass of water.

It strikes me that mankind is in much the same position as a fellow out in space. We ARE out in space, as a matter of fact. We're riding a big globe, under cover of an enveloping atmosphere, in all directions through the cosmos, and at speeds that make a rocket missile look slow.

And we have no panic button.

On Our Way

We're zooming through space at 19 miles a second in a huge orbit around the sun. The sun itself is rushing along in an unimaginable orbit as part of our spinning galaxy, the Milky Way. And the galaxy is in turn speeding through the infinite depths, perhaps as part of a super-galaxy which is itself speeding through ...

It begins to get complicated, but it is quite evident that our globe is moving right along.

Now, what happens if something goes wrong? Can we push a panic button and have somebody let us out?

Unfortunately such a device hasn't been built into our space vehicle. When the moment of panic comes, when you want to throw up your hands and scream "Get me outa here!" there is no bell cord to pull, no trap door to drop through.

The man speeding through space in his rocket can only fight to control himself, to win back command of his brain and hand, to make his human intelligence and courage take over once more.

The same applies to us. We have to call on what intellectual, physical and spiritual reserves we have and try to regain mastery of ourselves and our space craft.

A good many people, and nations too, have devoted their lives to looking for a panic button. If only there was a switch to turn, they say, a button to press, a lever to pull, a knob to adjust—so that all our difficulties would be resolved, the lid would be lifted off and we could step out and call the journey quits.

The almost incredible thing about mankind is that, knowing there is no button, we still act as though there were.

Speeding along through the night, man fouls up his air purifier with the stabilizers and pressure controls, further poisons the air with smoke and industrial fumes, devises systems of germ warfare that would make large parts of his space ship uninhabitable, fights and squabbles with the other passengers about who will sit where in the craft, and in general acts as though at any moment he wished to, he could lift the lid, step out and go home.

Dangerous Position

In-addition to all this he continues to manufacture hydrogen bombs that could blow up the whole thing to smithereens. If there had been a panic button on this space ship it would have been pushed long ago.

I suppose the chief tragedy of earth's inhabitants is that we have never yet thought of ourselves as isolated on a spinning speck and dependent on each other for our ultimate survival.

A threatened invasion of "men from Mars" or some other extraneous danger might serve to make us all pull together, but so far we do not identify ourselves as Earthmen, merely as residents of particular areas of the earth's surface.

While that type of identification persists it will be difficult to achieve unity. The crew members of the space craft will continue to fight among themselves for command of the ship.

That panic button must have been listed as an extra accessory on this model. It's a pity we didn't have it installed at first.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

Brotherhood Week is an opportunity to proclaim that all men everywhere are the children of God. For ourselves, it ought to be a time for re-inforcing a personal resolve to disavow all prejudice and ill-feeling in relations with our fellow-men. It should be an educational attack on every kind of social discrimination that denies the fullest opportunity of well-being to all without regard to differences of class, color, nationality or religious faith. It should lead to positive efforts in mutual understanding and regard between different groups.

Brotherhood Week will fulfill its purpose only when every day of every week is an opportunity to practise its precepts.

'Hiving the Grits'

The chickens always come home to roost.

Mr. Harvey evidently forgets who first used the "gerrymander" in Canada and the fun he had "hiving the Grits."

Of course, when the Conservatives bypass parliament, it is quite O.K.

Canadian Flag

In respect to a letter by H. Wyer who felt there should be a Commonwealth flag, I feel before a Commonwealth flag we need a Canadian flag.

At present Canada does not have a flag of its own. Instead it uses England's Red Ensign. What's the matter with Canadians, don't they have any national pride? Canada is fast becoming one of the world's leading powers.

I feel sure it would make us all feel good to see the Maple Leaf flying proudly over our heads. And in foreign ports people would not have to look twice to recognize our ships. Let's get our MPs at Ottawa to pass a bill granting Canada its own flag, and let's do it now!

A YOUNG CANADIAN.

Lord's Day Act

The Victoria opinion poll, published by Ben Crow, Western Surveys Research Ltd., Feb. 12, p. 17, should be revealing to many who so far have submitted to the say-so of a minority which uses every means, however foul it may be, to propagandize "Christianity," not Christianity, the principles of which, as expressed in the Golden Rule, surely are observed by as many, if not more, anti-religionists as by those who pay lip-service to the church.

The result of that poll, "2 in 3 against the Lord's Day Act" is of course no surprise to those of us who have an open, independent mind and are thinking for ourselves. If we want to get peace in this world, then we have to throw overboard all hypocrisy as demonstrated in this Lord's Day Act, Canada's criminal Divorce Law, dating from the Dark Ages, all this slavery, and start with a clean slate.

F. H. STAVERMAN, Langford Lake, V.I.

Too Young to Drink

I notice last week the Provincial Council of Women asked the government to amend the law so that a minor is equally culpable with a bar tender if he accepts drinks in a public establishment.

It is a shame the good ladies did not also ask the government to remove the stupid anomaly created in the liquor law when the voting age in B.C. was reduced to 19 a few years back.

It can hardly be wondered that some of our young people are likely to misuse liquor when they are treated as second-class citizens with regard to it.

As it is in B.C. now, society says something like this to its 19-year-olds:

"Well son, you're quite a man now. We think you've reached the age where we can trust you to vote for the right people to run the country. (Social Credit, of course, we hope.)"

"Matter of fact we think a great deal more of you than that. Join the army and we'll show you how to shoot atomic cannon. They make a real mess."

"Or get in the navy and we'll put you on a nuclear submarine. Better still, join the air force and we'll teach you to fly jet planes at 1,000 miles an hour and to drop hydrogen bombs that can destroy civilization."

"Oh, and by the way. If you want to get married and raise a family that's O.K. by us."

"But there's one thing, son. We just can't trust you to handle a glass of beer. And if you happen to cross the street carrying a bottle of whisky it's the housewife for you, boy. You understand how it is, don't you, boy?"

"SUBSCRIBER."

'Save Steps'

Quite a campaign has been conducted in Victoria during recent weeks to induce telephone subscribers to save time, save steps, etc., by installing an extension phone which only costs $1.20 per month extra.

I should mention business extensions and color phones slightly higher and mention, too, that apparently this rate applies to Vancouver, North Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster—something I would adopt too, if it were that much a year extra.

I was surprised to see an advertisement of this same B.C. Telephone Co. quoting the same service to other B.C. telephone users at 95 cents per month.

In my opinion, if any subscribers need the price reduced it would be here in Victoria, with its elderly citizens, many pensioners and lots not enjoying too good health or maybe other infirmities. Surely at even 95 cents per month extra it would be extremely profitable for the company?

The increased installation of phones here in cities in contrast to the sparser use in rural areas should appeal to the company and be more in harmony with their duty of furnishing service to the people.

What is the opinion of other telephone subscribers?

H. WYER.

The Students Had Their Say

A Guest Editorial in The Ubysey, Student Publication of the University of B.C.

THE Bonner talk is the most hotly debated topic on campus at the moment. Mr. Mel Smith has threatened to refrain from inviting any more distinguished speakers from appearing on the campus. Others are saying the heckling of the A.G. was stupid, vicious, and showed immaturity. Still others are worried lest Mr. Bonner wield his influence and retaliate by causing less money to be granted to UBC.

All these criticisms need examining, because they tell something of the attitude of the person who utters them.

Mr. Smith's statements have contained thinly-veiled threats about governmental retaliation, and the prospect of this is real enough in many minds to cause people to object to the heckling on this ground.

Deserves Criticism

Does either attitude speak well for either the government or the critic? Mr. Smith implies that the action of 500 students will cause the government to retaliate. Any government that resorts to this kind of action deserves every criticism it gets.

Any person that would have political speakers treated with kid gloves because of this fear of retaliation through the budget throws the freedom to criticize to the winds and submits himself to the whims of men who equate the concept of government with the business of operating a successful hardware store.

Was the heckling stupid? Mr. Bonner, who has been under severe criticism from many quarters and caused the defection of an MLA (so far) was the first speaker to appear on campus in almost two years.

The recent events in both federal and provincial arenas have made politics a warm (and even polite) subject of conversation.

In the face of this, Mr. Bonner chose as his topic a rather nebulous discussion of Canada's role in international affairs. Faced with an audience more concerned with B.C. immediate problems, Mr. Bonner prolonged his speech to the point of insulting the intelligence of every member of his audience.

Mr. Bonner ranged from the Oregon Treaty of 1846 to the DEW line. Rather than face the question of disarmament, Mr. Bonner retreated again, this time all the way back to the Franco-Prussian war.

Under these circumstances, the heckling he received was well-deserved. Students were more than patient with him. Mr. Smith's statement that no more requests will go forward from the Social Credit Club for speakers representing his party speaks ill of both Mr. Smith and Social Credit.

Students must continue to reserve for themselves the right to question and criticize, regardless of the consequences it may have. If we feel the danger of retaliation, the right becomes a duty. Mr. Bonner sought to escape questions. Anyone who listened to and analyzed his speech will have to admit this (there is a partial tape-recording of the speech which is due for an airing).

Spurred Hecklers

It must have been an ordeal for Mr. Bonner to stand before that audience, and as an individual we can sympathize with him. But as a representative of the provincial government in a period of political excitement, Mr. Bonner's padding to prolong his speech and avoid questions acted as a spur to the heckling. It could not have been otherwise in a climate of critical examination by the active minds of university students.

Mr. Bonner either underestimated the political morality of university students, or underestimated their intelligence. Either way, and retaliation or no retaliation, the students had their say.

Which was as it should be.

1955, But More So

Winnipeg Free Press

THE tax cuts promised in the Liberal platform are designed to enable people to spend more and therefore to restore the jobs that hundreds of thousands of workers across the country have lately lost. Conservative politicians profess to regard this as a surprising program, in contrast to previous Liberal policy. But it is hard to believe that they are really as naive as they profess.

No one looking back over the record could really have any doubt what a Liberal Government would have done if it had been in office now. It would have cut taxes. That was what was done in the 1955 Budget. The cuts were in income tax (2 percentage points), corporation tax, the excise tax on cars (reduced from 15 to 10 per cent), and a few others.

The pattern of what Mr. Pearson now proposes is to be found in the 1955 Budget. The difference is simply in size; the recession now is considerably worse than the recession three years ago. Therefore, since cuts of $200 millions a year proved to be well judged then, tax cuts of $400 millions are a cautious estimate of what is needed now.

The Prime Minister had fun in his Winnipeg speech suggesting that seven months of opposition have taught the Liberals a lot. There are ways in which that is true. After 22 years in office, the Liberals had things to learn in the sphere of political manoeuvring—and some mistakes have been made in the process. But that is not the sort of stuff on which the Canadian people are going to decide which way to vote. They will vote on the big issues of peace and trade and jobs and security.

On those issues a party that was in office for 22 years, during which the country progressed in a way that made it the envy of the world, may still have some things to learn to meet new situations; but it will not learn them from the Conservatives who in eight months have done many of the small things well but have floundered on the big issues.

On the broad lines of economic policy, the main thing the Liberal party had to do was to look back to the tested policies that have worked so well. Following those Liberal precedents, the right thing to do was to reduce debt in 1956 and the first part of 1957; but now, with unemployment, it is to cut taxes on exactly the same principles as they were cut—with the Liberal party safely in office, and an election far away—in 1955.

If there is anything new, it is that in deciding the details of the tax cuts Mr. Pearson has thought of more imaginative ways of making each dollar of tax cuts do a maximum of good. That is especially true of the marriage tax allowance and the proposed new low step in corporation tax, which will be of great benefit to the really small business.

Those are the novel touch in the Liberal program. Its main lines are the well-established ones based on Liberal principles and experience.

Dreams or Postures?

NEW YORK—Lost: One dream. Reward for finding will be incalculable. Finder please return same to the United States.

If you join these days in the informal round-table discussions in the UN delegates' lounge, that magnificent room with windows two-stories high overlooking the gardens and the East River, you'll find a good deal of talk about the sterility of current East-West proposals. In this mail-order manoeuvring between Premier Bulganin and President Eisenhower both sides are highly preoccupied with scoring propaganda points, both sides are making demands they know won't be met, both are in effect asking unconditional surrender of the other.

Many of America's friends here at the UN would like to hear more talk of dreams and less of postures. As you've probably noticed, "Posture" is a favorite new word among American diplomats and pundits. They talk about the American "defensive posture" or the posture the U.S. must assume at a Summit conference.

Posture is another word for a pose and it suggests an attitude adopted to create an impression. And of course it's impossible for a man who is posing to be doing anything. President Eisenhower, of course, has proposed his "Science for Peace" plan, his proposal for co-operation, for example, in the fight against disease. This is good—but is it good enough?

SELL MORE ABROAD?

What about trade? Measures to increase international trade was one of the proposals made by Premier Bulganin in his latest letter to the President. Why not take him up on it? The U.S. is the greatest trading nation in the world. It needs markets for its goods. Why not sell more abroad?

Americans are most concerned over inroads into South America which the Russians are making, but it doesn't seem to occur to very many of them that it would be equally to their advantage to penetrate Eastern Europe or China or Russia itself.

More important, the U.S. needs friends to day more than at any time in her peace-time history. And the best way to make international friends is to trade with them. An obvious possibility would be to enter into some sort of association, together perhaps with Canada, with the new, exciting European economic community. To make the whole Western world eventually into an integrated trading community would be really big, really exciting. But far from dreaming such dreams, American congressmen and senators are more protectionists today rather than less. The president is having to fight hard to get an extension of his bill asking for an extension of the reciprocal trade act, which permits him to make limited reductions in tariffs. American trade experts say he won't get what he's asking for and, even if he did, it wouldn't be enough to inspire other nations.

"The question is whether the system of free competitive enterprise... will meet successfully in the international economic arena the challenge hurled by the Soviet leaders," the President told Congress.

"We will fail if the U.S. should now abandon the task of building a world trading system from which all free world countries can gain strength and prosperity."

The President and his advisers are dreaming dreams but congressmen are not and neither, apparently, are the majority of the American people.

RED BLOC SCORES

Then there's aid to under-developed countries. The U.S. is now being outstripped by the Communist bloc countries in the amount of aid and, more important, they are apparently winning more good will in many areas.

The answer, in the opinion of technical assistance men, would be for the U.S. to channel more of its money through the UN but the trouble is in the opinion of one old-time UN secretariat member that the "Americans want to be thanked. They want 'Made in U.S.A.' label, which often creates resentment rather than rejoicing. Experience proves that aid through the UN is more welcome.

Canadians often try to persuade their American colleagues to be flexible, but as the Englishmen say, they're sometimes on a bit of a sticky wicket. The fact is that American aid is far greater per capita than Canada. And it's worth remembering that in the trade field, Canadians in near-horror turned down the British offer of free trade.

It's too bad that just at a time when there's important dreaming to be done, Canadians are involved in yet another of their election campaigns. It's too bad because the Western world probably needs a mission more than a missile.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

What Comeback?

LONDON—Names make news. . . . Paul Gallico, who lives the quiet life in a Decon cottage (so quiet that it's not generally known he's an England resident), has explained why he switched from sports writer to author:

"I can look back on the kind of person I was then and I don't like that sort of person. I was a jerk. I was a typical American sports writer, brash, self-satisfied and oblivious to the world outside the sports calendar. Then one night I went to cover a big fight at the Garden. There at the ringside we all sat, the aristocracy of the sports-writing world.

"After the preliminaries one of the big-shot writers arrived. He climbed over everybody and stood—like a god—so that everybody could see that he had arrived.

"Suddenly somebody in the back shouted: 'Sit down, bud, you're only a sports writer.' Only a sports writer—that's all I was too. So, back then in 1936, I packed it all up, came to England and drove around Devon looking for the perfect cottage. I found it and I'm still here."

Charles Laughton, on the eve of the London opening of his new film Witness for the Prosecution, gave a fiery response to an interviewer's reference to his "come-back":

"Come-back! I do not consider it a come-back in the slightest. Where am I supposed to have been?"

Repeated Appeals Pay Off for Tom

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi was goaded into action Tuesday by the repeated appeals of 83-year-old Tom Uphill on behalf of the unemployed miners in Fernie.

"Come over to my office later and we'll see if we can figure something out," said the shrewd minister after the Fernie member had directed personal appeals to every member of the cabinet in turn.

"Thank you, Mr. Minister, I'll be over to see you," Mr. Uphill replied.

Earlier, Mr. Uphill urged the government to launch a program of public works to give employment to Fernie miners displaced by closing of the Crow's Nest Pass Colliery.

MAYOR'S APPEAL

He read out a telegram from Mayor James White of Fernie expressing "deep regret that the House did not see fit to adopt the labor committee's recommendation to provide immediate assistance to our city."

Mayor White said revenues had taken "a sharp drop" and welfare assistance claims were mounting.

"Implore the House to give us special consideration as the city's position is deteriorating rapidly and a crisis will arise in the very near future."

Mr. Uphill supported Mayor White's plea for an emergency public works program to include bridge-building, widening of highways, river bank protection, forest protection access roads, establishment of a fish hatchery and a tourist park and camp site.

URGENT

He spoke eloquently of miners who had given their lives to Fernie and whose homes and life savings were threatened.

"They cannot possibly get their money out of these homes with conditions as they are now," Mr. Uphill said.

"This is an urgent matter and I would remind the House of words once spoken by Lloyd George, one of Britain's greatest statesmen, when he said 'unusual circumstances justify unusual procedures.'"

"Such procedures are needed today," Highways Minister Gagliardi entered the House while Mr. Uphill was speaking and, when a personal appeal was addressed to him across the floor, he replied.

"I promise you, Tom. I will do the best I can. You know I always do that."

"I believe you," answered Mr. Uphill, "but I would remind you the time is now."

NEW MINISTER of Glad Tidings Tabernacle, Rev. Eric A. Hornby, will preach his first services here on Sunday. Mr. Hornby arrived with his family this week from St. Catherine's, Ont., where he was pastor of a Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada church for 10 years. Prior to that, he was pastor and assistant superintendent of the assemblies in Saskatoon, Sask.

'Join the Church and Make Million Dollars'

Anti-union statements made by U.S. industrialist-evangelist R. J. Letourneau at the opening ceremonies for Highways Minister Gagliardi's new Kamloops church were criticized in the legislature Tuesday by Alberta CCF member John Squire.

Mr. Squire said the highways minister should have immediately disassociated himself from the remarks.

Quoting from a Kamloops newspaper, Mr. Squire said Mr. Letourneau had boasted that he had no unions in his big equipment-manufacturing firm; had told a group of his employees that union leaders drove Cadillacs while he drove a Ford; and that he doubted whether enough patriotic labor leaders could be found to pursue a war effort.

"I object most strenuously to a minister of this government sponsoring people making remarks . . . disrespectful to the people of this province," Mr. Squire said.

Mr. Letourneau, a guest of Highways Minister Gagliardi at the church opening last month should have been immediately taken to task, the CCF member said.

Mr. Squire said the highways minister had praised Mr. Letourneau as a "practicing Christian who successfully mixes religion and business."

"I read everything in the paper," Mr. Squire said, "and I came to the conclusion the theme of the whole thing was join the church and make a million dollars—that's what it sounded like."

Government members cried "shame, shame" at this statement. Mr. Gagliardi was not in the House at the time.

Relieve Itching, Soreness and Pain

without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a safe, clean, easy way to shrink or reduce swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories.

The secret is in taking just one small Hem-Roid Tablet, with water, two or three times a day. By effective INTERNAL action this mild but gently persistent medicine eases constipation, helps break up and smoothly pass off hardened intestinal waste, relieves itching, soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem-Roid is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying in giving immediate results hundreds have written their thanks for making this fine medicine available to them.

Why suffer needlessly when Hem-Roid offers you so much? Get a package today. See for yourself how safe, clean and easy it is to use, how pleasantly and effectively it works, how much more comfort is waiting for you. Cost only a few pennies a day if you like it. NO COST otherwise, as your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not 100% pleased. Ask at any drug store for Hem-Roid Internal Pile Treatment.

OOMPH?—HARRUMPH! NOT FOR PROFESSOR

OTTAWA (CP)—It's asking too much, a teachers' college head said today, to expect that university professors be interesting.

Canon O. E. Narter, principal of Montreal's St. Joseph's Teachers' College, told a teacher-qualification workshop at the Canadian Conference on Education that: "Heaven-knows it would be a valuable acquisition for many of our university professors if they learned how to make their lectures interesting as well as informative. But it is not, perhaps, absolutely essential."

"At that level of learning a student must be prepared to put up with much for the sake of knowledge. What is required in our university professors, is, above all, a high level of academic competence."

UBC Head Urges University Grants

OTTAWA (BUP)—More Canadians must be persuaded to go on to graduate schools to meet the critical shortage of university professors, Dr. Andrew Stewart, president of the University of Alberta, said Tuesday at the Canadian conference on education.

Dr. Stewart suggested that the problem could be met in part by relaxing the requirements for a Ph.D. so that junior staff members could continue teaching without interruption.

Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of UBC, was "violently" of the opinion that there was no real wisdom in trying to beat Soviet Russia in the production of engineers and scientists but that the humanists "have" or should have, a most valuable contribution to make.

Dr. MacKenzie also said federal grants to universities could be "more than justified" if no strings were attached.

U.S. Sailors In City For Weekend

More than 300 officers and men of the United States Navy will visit the R.C.N. base at Esquimalt this weekend, and most of them will have shore leave to visit Victoria.

The submarine USS Sea Devil will reach Esquimalt late Friday afternoon, leave Monday morning. Commanding officer is Lt.-Cmdr. L. A. Cravener.

The boom defence vessel USS Elder will arrive at 10 a.m. Saturday, leave at 4 p.m. the same day. Lt. W. W. Wright is commanding officer.

A-G WARNS VANCOUVER MAN

Store Requested To Pay Royalties

A Vancouver man, who claims a copyright on the official B.C. centennial emblem, has advised at least one chain store royalties are due him on goods bearing the design.

But Attorney-General Robert Bonner says Arthur Parker, 1781 Beach Avenue, Vancouver, has no right to royalties.

"The province owns the copyright in this emblem and permission for its use must come from the B.C. Centennial Committee," said Mr. Bonner.

5 PER CENT

Mr. Parker has advised the store "of a royalty of 5 per cent on all imported flags bearing this design."

He also claimed a 10 per cent royalty whenever imported wearing apparel and personal fabrics bear the crest.

Mr. Bonner said Mr. Parker will be held responsible for any sums of money already collected by him.

Although Mr. Parker claims copyright, the crest was designed by a provincial government artist, Cyril Connorton, of Victoria.

Bringing Up Baby

MINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Rose Barker (MOTHER OF 5)

Toddlers are, by nature, inquisitive and acquisitive. As a consequence, temper tantrums often develop when baby is denied the right to inspect every household object he can lay his hands on. (Favorite bric-a-brac breakables are always most interesting, too.) A few simple tricks to stave off these upsets:

• Let baby have things he can safely inspect. Pots and pans have lots of play and put-together value.

• Remove non-touchables before baby sees them. Be surprised how many "no-no's" this will eliminate.

Menu thrills for Junior Jack 'n' Jill. All savory goodness and substantial nourishment—that's the sum of Gerber's Junior New Meat Dinners. For they have 3 times as much meat, and therefore much more protein than regular vegetable and meat combinations. Selected vegetables and cereal are blended with this extra meat for exceptional flavor and excellent nutritive value. 7 varieties—even minced to encourage chewing. 3 strained versions for younger babies.

Great copycats, toddlers. Sometimes we, as parents, cannot resist amusing baby with assorted funny faces or clowning tactics. But if it isn't so funny when your image imitates you and keeps it up. Sensible rule on this subject: "Try not to entertain baby with antics you don't want copied for keeps."

Small-try salad to provide fruit and vegetable in pleasant form.

Cereal and Pear Salad
1 env. gelatin + ¼ c. cold water
½ cup Gerber Junior Carrots
½ cup Gerber Pears & Pineapple
½ cup Orange Juice

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat carrots. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add fruit and orange juice. Pour into lightly oiled molds and chill 'til firm. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Sooke Hears St. Louis Glee Club

SOOKE — St. Louis College Glee Club of 45 boys made its first public appearance at a concert in Sooke Community Hall sponsored by the Altar Society of St. Rose of Lima Church.

Directed by Rev. G. E. McCaffery and accompanied by David O'Neill, a student at the school, the boys shared the program with pupils of Eileen's School of Dancing in Victoria, and residents who appeared in a one-act play.

The comedy "Rise and Shine," was directed by Grace Horgan, and starred Joseph Jackman, Sheila Bickmore, Ray Blouin, Eileen Conder and Sammy Pedersen.

R. C. Gibson was master of ceremonies for the variety show.

ISLAND DIGEST

Tofino Road Restriction Hit

Full public access to the new Alberni-Tofino road was demanded in the Legislature Tuesday by John Squire (CCF-Alberni).

Mr. Squire said the two logging firms involved in construction of the road were given special concessions by the government in their forest management licences.

(B.C. Forest Products is building the western end of the road, MacMillan and Bloedel the eastern end, and the government the middle section around Kennedy Lake.)

LAST FRONTIER

Mr. Squire said it was unfortunate the government had negotiated different agreements, one strong the other weak, for the two ends of the road.

He described the Ucluelet-Long Beach area as the "last frontier" of Vancouver Island and one of the beauty spots of the province.

Tourists driving to the area and local residents should not be restricted to driving after 5 p.m. at night or on weekends, he said.

Reluctant Vessel Finally Launched; Line Hits Workers

B.C.'s most modern fishing vessel slid off Yarrows Ltd. ways into Esquimalt Harbor at 7 a.m. today—15 hours after the christening ceremony.

The steel-hulled, 75-foot Silver Viking, built for Capt. Mal Mjos of Vancouver, was tapped with the traditional champagne bottle at 4 p.m. Tuesday by Mrs. Mjos.

The vessel began to slip slowly down the ways, but after moving about 20 feet, the grease on the slipway appeared to seize up, and the Silver Viking stopped.

The small harbor tug Yarrows No. 1 put a line aboard and attempted to pull the vessel clear, but without success.

About 30 minutes later, Yarrows No. 1 was joined by an RCN harborcraft for a second pull.

This time, with both tugs running all out, a hawser broke and whip-lashed three workmen standing beside the slipway.

Shipwright Norman Henderson, 3976 Blenkinsop, was struck across the face and knocked down. He was taken to St.

Joseph's Hospital after first aid treatment, and was later released.

Also struck by the flying hawser were Charles White, 3408 Seymour, and H. R. Hipwell, 1694 North Dairy. They were uninjured.

After the towline snapped, the launching attempt was postponed until high water this morning. This time, the two tugs pulled the Silver Viking clear and she took docilely to the water.

The vessel was designed by Yarrows' naval architect Gilbert Anderson in co-operation with the National Research Council, which made design recommendations after extensive model tests.

Two outstanding features are long range—the Silver Viking is equipped to stay at sea for three to four weeks—and chilled brine fish storage tanks capable of carrying 100 tons of halibut or 145 tons of herring. Use of chilled brine instead of ice increases "pay load" and enables the ship to stay at sea for longer periods.

Speaking at the launching ceremony, H. A. Wallace, vice-president and managing director of Yarrows suggested the Silver Viking might lead the way for other steel-hulled fishing vessels—a type of construction urged by Yarrows for several years.

He said maintenance costs should be reduced.

GRANNIES AND MATRONS

First Pancake Race Lures 50 Participants

GANGES—Close to 50 Salt Spring Island residents took part Tuesday in what is believed to be the first Shrove Tuesday pancake race ever held in Canada.

Grandmothers, young matrons and husbands dashed over a 50-yard course in the business section here, flipping pancakes in frying pans all the way. Rules allowed contestants to scoop up the pancakes if they were dropped, but they could not touch them with their hands.

Aprons were worn by most contestants, who ran their heats in a light rain.

Winner of the ladies' open class was Mrs. Arnold Lutz, and Mrs. Del Van Buskirk won the grandmothers' class. Top prize was an electric frying pan.

A Shrove Tuesday pancake race has been tradition in England since 1445. The idea was brought here by Mrs. I. H. Williams and it was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion. It is planned to hold it each year.

Hegan Stacks 'Em Up

Veteran Catcher Sent to Detroit In Four-Man Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — How do the American League's great hitters since the Second World War rate with the man closest to them when they swing—the opposing catcher?

Jim Hegan, who Tuesday concluded 17 years with Cleveland Indians and moved to Detroit Tigers, stacks them up this way:

Joe Dimaggio: "More dangerous than Williams with men on base and the best curveball I've ever seen. Williams will take a base on balls with men on even if the pitch is just a fraction of an inch off the plate."

Ted Williams: "The greatest concentrator."

Mickey Mantle: "The most powerful."

NO WEAKNESS

Yogi Berra: "The one hitter I've found with absolutely no weaknesses."

That the hitters have some respect for Hegan's opinions is evident from a remark by Williams that "when Jim isn't behind the plate, it's worth an extra base hit to me."

Hegan, a Cleveland favorite for 17 years, was dealt to Detroit in a four-player, no-money trade.

For the big Irishman, 38 in August, and for southpaw Hank Aguirre the Indians got catcher J. W. Porter and southpaw Harold Woodeshick, a pair of 25-year-olds.

Cleveland general manager Frank Lane said the deal was an effort to bring more youth into the club. Lane has a high regard for the potential of Porter, whom he signed for a $65,000 bonus in 1951 when he was general manager of Chicago White Sox. In 58 games last season Porter hit .250.

DISAPPOINTING

Woodeshick and the 26-year-old Aguirre have yet to prove themselves. Each had a disappointing 1957 season. Aguirre was 6-13 with San Diego and 1-1 with the Tribe while Woodeshick's 1957 record was 5-9 with Charleston of the American Association and 3-5 with Augusta in the South Atlantic League.

News of the trade came as a surprise to Hegan, one of the unsigned Indians. He said he and Lane were "pretty far apart" on salary. Hegan's pay last year was estimated at around $27,500. But he played in only 38 games and batted .216 compared with his lifetime average of .230.

Detroit general manager John McHale said Hegan agreed to sign.

Hegan's career with the Tribe goes back to 1941. Of the current Indians, only pitcher Bob Lemon was with the club in that year.

With hall-of-famer Ray Schalk, Hegan is the only catcher to have worked three no-hitters. They were pitched by Don Black—July 10, 1947; Eemon, June 30, 1948, and Bob Feller, July 1, 1951.

Bombers Sorry, But Prices Up

WINNIPEG (CP) — A boost in the price for season tickets "due to steadily increasing costs in every phase of the club's activities" was announced Monday night by Ralph Parliant, president of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Parliant said the increase, the first since 1950, is "unavoidable." The club had a deficit of more than $11,000 in 1957, and "this year's budget indicated a similar loss unless we increase our revenue."

The increases range from 25 to 50 cents and will mean a boost in estimated revenue of about $25,000.

Club officials said they felt the increase was warranted as they "could not afford to pinch on the budget," and the Winnipeg stadium price-range was less than any other city in the western division of the Canadian Football League.

CHICAGO TIED FOR FIFTH

Now's the Time Litz Can Help Hawks

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Rangy Ed Litzberger joined Chicago Black Hawks late in 1954, one of six players obtained that season by Chicago from Montreal Canadiens.

It was one of a series of deals with other National Hockey League teams in a "help the Hawks" move. Chicago had finished last in six of the eight previous seasons.

Because of the timing of his shift, the Neudorf, Sask., native got into 73 games—the schedule calls for 70 for each team—and contributed 23

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)

— Alberta - born Gordon Stibbards Tuesday night led his Welland, Ont., rink to a 12-11 triumph over Quebec and gave Ontario an unblemished 4-0 record after four hours in the Dominion schoolboy bonspiel.

It was Stibbards' second triumph of the day. In an afternoon round he led his rink to a 13-8 win over Newfoundland.

Stibbards had competition for crowd attraction from Prince Edward Island's cool, calculating Art Burke.

Burke, skipping his last year in high school competition, got a scare from Nova Scotia's Art Kenney in the evening round but pulled out with a 9-6 win. His big play in the bonspiel to date came in the third round when he outshot Saskatchewan's Fred Hansen for a 6-5 triumph.

ALBERTA WINS 14-4

The win gave the islanders a 3-0 record, equal to Alberta's. Alberta, idle in the fourth, had an easy time with Quebec in the afternoon, winning 14-4.

Northern Ontario's Tom Tod continued to rack up the impressive scores to rank with Ontario in the lead. Tod masterminded his quartet to a 17-9 win over Newfoundland in the evening round and punched out a 15-7 verdict over Manitoba in the earlier draw.

Manitoba's Pete McLeod, finally hit the win column but had a tough proposition in New Brunswick before salvaging a 9-8 decision in 11 ends.

British Columbia's Gary Wray caught Saskatchewan on the down-grade and the West Coast rink blanked the Prairie province for the first six ends.

The round-robin bonspiel ends Friday.

Dave Has Two Weeks To Do Two-Month Job

Dave McTaggart has a problem. Reason for the rush is that the agile slasher, who was the world's fourth-ranked men's singles player two years back, has been kept too busy by the pile-driving business in which he is a partner to maintain a regular training schedule.

IN CUP MATCHES

And, ready or not, he will be defending his crown in the Victoria this week. "But I've got to figure some way to get in shape in a hurry."

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association has been deprived of the opportunity to stage its first provincial game convention, but it appears sportsmen throughout the province have gained by a decision announced by the game commission.

The local club, which had started work on arrangements to make the May convention a memorable affair, was notified this week that the 1953 meeting had been cancelled "for this year to avoid duplication and to give the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs a free field and hence more assistance in making their first annual convention a success."

Although probably prompted by the government's current economy campaign, the announcement means there is no longer any doubt that president Barsby and his B.C. Federation have won their battle. The Nanaimo sportsman and his group have long contended that the B.C. game conventions had become too unwieldy to give full consideration to suggestions made by sportsmen's organizations.

They formed the federation for the purpose of uniting the family of fish and game clubs and obtaining their own annual convention, at which all member clubs would co-operate to try to solve wildlife problems throughout the province.

At first, originators of the plan found only lukewarm interest, but the warmth of today's enthusiasm for their idea is shown by the fact that delegates of more than 100 fish and game organizations, including those from the VFGPA, will attend the first convention at Penticton in May.

It is expected that the game commission convention will be resumed next year on a broader scale that will include all branches of the department of recreation and conservation and representatives of the B.C. federation.

With little more than a week until the end of the season, only a few brant have shown up along the Vancouver Island coast. Only report of brant success is an unconfirmed one that said four birds were taken at Whiffen Spit last week.

Brant are fewer off the lower mainland than last year, but the little geese should be soon hitting B.C. waters on their northern migration. There could still be some brisk action before the season closes Feb. 28.

The Chinook Club, which limits its ranks to members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association who have taken button-sized salmon, holds its annual meeting and dinner at Loughheed's Banquet Club March 1.

Winners of club trophies will receive their awards during the evening. The dinner starts at 7 and the meeting at 9.

Members may invite guests for the dinner and tickets are available at city sporting goods stores.

Vancouver scattergunners had themselves quite a time busting targets in 1957 and three of them are believed to have topped former provincial marks for consistency.

B.C. champion Bill Jones and Earl Caldwell have been named among the 10 Pacific International Trapshooting Association All-Star selections. Jones averaged 97.43 per cent in blasting at 2,100 single targets and Caldwell had a 97.1 mark for 1,550.

Frank Opsal chalked up a 97.53 average but some bad scores in handicap events cost him a place in the all-Pacific coast squad.

Gunners who claimed there were lost of ducks around last season and blamed mild weather for spotty shooting have some authoritative support.

A wire report states that the largest waterfowl count ever recorded in Washington has been announced by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

According to the report, the count was 1,087,444 birds, of which 949,113 were ducks.

TRAFTON CAN SEE GOOD OPPORTUNITY IN MIAMI

LOS ANGELES (UP)—George Trafton, former player and part-owner of the Chicago Bears, said he is ready to pour half a million dollars into a syndicate seeking a National Football League franchise for Miami, Fla.

The one-time great Bear centre said he has urged the syndicate, headed by Los Angeles Rams back Ron Waller, to make an offer to buy Chicago Cardinals "at a price that would be hard to turn down."

Trafton, one of the original founders of the Bears, along with George Halas in 1921, sold his 25 per cent interest in the team in 1935. He last was associated with pro football as coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers four years ago.

ROCKET COMING BACK

No Reason for Habs To Cheer Right Now

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens, whose layoffs this season through injury and illness now add up to two complete hockey seasons, came back home Tuesday in a howling blizzard.

The weary players, ending a four-game, storm-delayed road trip, wondered whether to start counting blessings or get ready for another cruel swipe from the hand of Lady Luck.

The one piece of good news was that Maurice (Rocket) Richard, sidelined three months ago by a nearly-severed Achilles tendon, plans to return to the lineup in Thursday's game here against Boston Bruins.

Sailors Slate Grapple Card

Grunt and goaners move into HMCS Naden gymnasium on Thursday night for a full evening's fling of masterful mayhem.

Wrestlers from the ships Ontario and Ste. Therese will be featured on the card, tackling representatives of Naden, and Victoria's strait swimming biker, Ben Laughren.

Events start at 8 p.m. The main event will be a tag team affair between two sailors from HMCS Ontario and another pair from HMCS Naden.

Antioch top bout will feature 210-pound CPO James Goodman, of the Ontario, against 215-pound AB Roger "Butch" Klamie, of Ste. Therese.

AB Perrin, of the Ontario, will meet Naden fireman Al Day, and there will be three other matches, including one between Laughren and an opponent to be selected.

Civilians are invited to attend the matches.

Mounties' Squad Signs Bridesaver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast Baseball League have announced the signing of infielder Jim Bridesaver, who hit .268 last season with the parent Baltimore Orioles.

Bridesaver saw previous service with New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and Detroit.

Vancouver also signed two rookies—George Werley, 19-year-old pitcher formerly in the Georgia-Florida league, and Al Nagel, 23, outfielder just completing two years of military service.

Boxla Borrows Referees' Zone

VANCOUVER (CP)—The inter-city lacrosse league had a 47-per-cent attendance increase last year over 1956.

Carl Grauer, chairman of the B.C. Lacrosse Commission, reported there was a 32-per-cent gain in Victoria, 72 per cent in New Westminster and five per cent in Nanaimo.

Vancouver Pils, who were hosts for the meeting, did not gain at all but they have big plans afoot. They are moving into Exhibition Forum from the less spacious Kerrisdale Arena and have started a drive to sell 2,000 season tickets.

The total 1957 attendance was 120,243 compared with 81,952 in 1956.

Commissioner Bill Dickinson said former star Bobby Phelan will direct referees' school to provide a bigger staff of referees and greater consistency in decisions.

The commission also has established a referees' zone, similar to that in hockey, to cut down on players arguing with officials.

Pils coach Jack McKinnon announced that Ted Hunt, B.C.

DRAW NEXT WEEK
MELBOURNE (AP)—The draw for the American zone, northern section, of the Davis Cup tennis tournament will be made Feb. 24. Entries have been received from Argentina, Canada, Cuba, Israel, the United States and Venezuela.

The referee ordered Burns to leave the ice. He refused. Then he got into an argument with the Swedish goalkeeper Karlstrom.

Spectators got into the act, too. They tossed snowballs from the open-air arena, bottle caps and other objects onto the ice.

When the referee finally restored order, he dismissed both Burns and Broems and another four Canadians who took part in the squabble—former playing-coach Bus Gagnon, Gord Myles, Harry Sinden and Alf Treen.

Burns and Smith, with two goals each, led the scoring. There were two goals in the first period, seven in the second and three in the final period.

The win was the Canadians' eighth in as many exhibition games in England, West Germany and Sweden.

The team left here for Oslo today to play in two other trial games there Thursday and Friday. They return to Sweden for three more exhibitions next week before the world tournament begins.

More Play Fields Urged by Warren

Victoria needs increased playing fields and outdoor recreational facilities, city parks administrator W. H. Warren told council Tuesday.

In the annual report for his department, Mr. Warren said more playing fields are required at Topaz Park. There should also be development of park reserves in the Oaklands and Pemberton areas.

Mr. Warren said it is recommended in the United Kingdom that there be six acres of playing fields for each 1,000 of population.

Victoria has only a third of this amount, he said.

He felt there should be more recreational activities and accommodation for persons of 60 and over, more supervised playgrounds for children and more play equipment.

Comfort stations should be considered for the Topaz Park area as well as a caretaker's residence, dressing rooms and a storage area.

Expanded Program For Fisheries Askey by Industry

An expanded works program by the federal fisheries department to build up salmon runs was urged Tuesday by fisheries industry representatives before the legislative labor committee as a means of reducing unemployment.

The Fisheries Association of B.C. proposed such projects as stream clearance, hatchery and artificial spawning grounds. These would provide winter work if properly timed, the association brief said, and would increase the value of the fish resource to the people of B.C.

CHOICE, PERFORMANCE TOPS

Full House Enjoys Chamber Music Show

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

If there were no other reasons—such as student bursaries and other forms of encouragement offered the talented performer—Victoria Musical Art Society would justify its existence by Tuesday night's type of presentation alone.

The auditorium at Holyrood House held a capacity audience for the event; a fact which in itself should encourage the Musical Art and other organizations to sponsor more such chamber music concerts.

Six musicians, all Victoria Symphony personnel, performed five works for a variety of ensembles.

These six—Maurice Crawford, flute; Doris Hingley, violin; Gordon Tracy, viola; Betty Tracy, cello; Malcolm Hamilton, piano, and James MacKay, double bass—surely earned the gratitude of their audience for the manner of the performance as well as for the choice of music.

Their ensemble work offered every indication of a marriage of true musical minds, the union to become completely satisfying in every detail if—and we hope they do—they continue to work together as a group over a long period.

As it was, their equality of technical skill and compatibility of viewpoint created a happy listening experience.

Possibly most memorable will be the Weber G Minor Trio for flute, cello and piano, and the exquisite Schubert "Trout" Quintet for violin, viola, cello, double bass and piano.

In particular, the Weber Trio came as a surprise, not having been heard before by many, including this reviewer. The happy agreement between the reedy resonance of the flute and shadowed tonal quality of the cello with the limpid piano, was sound at its loveliest.

LOWEST RATE OF CLAIM REJECTIONS IN CANADA

Wicks Defends WCB Record

The record of the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board was stoutly defended in the legislature Tuesday by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

Answering criticism by some labor groups, the minister said the board has the lowest rate of claims rejections of any board in Canada.

Compensation is paid for entirely by industry, he said, and last year assessments totalled $27,551,105.

Mr. Wicks said the WCB is an independent board and should be kept free from any form of political pressure.

The government should not interfere with or alter its decisions, he said.

"TOO LENIENT"

Some of the board's problems arise from the fact it has been "too lenient" with frivolous or fraudulent claims.

Some groups such as National Unemployment Insurance Commission prosecute persons making fraudulent claims, but the WCB has not taken this action.

The minister said a labor union delegation was told by the cabinet last fall that the government would give full consideration to 78 disputed claims if details were submitted.

Only 22 of these cases have been submitted, he said, and of these eight were found to be frivolous, eight were not valid and six were allowed by the board.

None of the six claims which were allowed had been questioned before they were brought to the cabinet and none had been dealt with at board level, he said.

Dealing with these six cases which were changed, Mr. Wicks said the compensation board deals with more than 90,000 cases a year and is bound to make some errors.

The minister said changes have been made in the board setup to help claimants, including a revised, simpler accident report form and appointment of a "claims field officer" to conduct interviews.

Changes in the procedure make it clear to the claimant that he has the right of appeal to the board of review and further appeal to the board of commissioners if that is rejected.

In reviewing other branches of his department, the minister said 367 contract disputes were referred to the Labor Relations Branch in 1957 and less than 10 per cent ended in strike action.

Conciliation officers settled 243 of these disputes, he said.

Under the department's apprentice-training program, some 994 new apprenticeships were registered last year and 397 young men completed their training.

There were a total of 2,753 apprentices in the province in 1957, an increase of 18 per cent over the previous year.

'LIVE WITH THEM, SO WE HUMOR THEM'

Wives Amazingly Tolerant With Bushy Collar-Dusters

By DINA KERR

Don't look now, but that man with the weird beard could be your husband.

And chances are there's a silly grin behind his stubble.

For years he has been secretly aware that a beard would add the piece de resistance to his general appeal.

He has never confided this to his wife, who loves him for the solid citizen he is. It would be cruel to even let her suspect that he could be transformed into a swaggering cavalier who causes mothers to pull their daughters off the streets when he passes by.

So he pretends he entered a Centennial beard-growing contest to be "one of the boys." Why spoil his wife's summer? She has a right to celebrate B.C.'s centenary too.

He doesn't fool anyone with his self-conscious laughter. This man knows he is growing a winner. His beard will not be the funniest or the most original. But it will be the most handsome.

MONTE ROBERTS

The time for great inventions is during the misty moments just before dawn.

Of this I am sure, for as recently as this very morning, I produced a great invention, and the moment was certainly misty, also before dawn.

It had been one of those nights. You know the kind. Can't go to sleep. Toss and turn until ninety-nine o'clock. When you finally do get to sleep, you're awake seconds later, waiting tensely for the alarm to go off. Too late to go back to sleep. Too early to get up.

So what do you do?

You think, that's what you do.

And what do you think about?

If you are me, you think about why in the name of Morpheus you can't get a good night's sleep.

And in the course of MY thinking this morning, I stumbled upon my great invention.

Instant Condensed Sleep.

Do you grasp the implications?

Packaged sleep, prepared as the soups are: one one-hour package contains enough condensed sleep to serve eight.

Eight hours, that is.

Instant sleep, packaged the way the coffees are.

Just add water and voila! You have sleep, instantly.

Think what a boon instant condensed sleep would be to the busy executive.

Instead of wasting hours and hours in bed, either sleeping or trying to sleep, he would simply open a one-hour tin of Instant Condensed Sleep and, in one hour, get eight hours sleep.

Yes, the time for great inventions is during the misty moments before dawn, while waiting for the alarm clock.

That's when my great invention, Instant Condensed Sleep, came to me.

I even worked out the practical details of how to, prepare Instant Condensed Sleep.

The only trouble is, I went back to sleep and, when the alarm clock rang, do you think I could remember the practical details?

Ah, well, there are always the misty moments of tomorrow morning.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City council called off a special meeting to introduce its fire hall site bylaw Tuesday and reset it for 5 p.m. tonight.

An informal meeting held in the mayor's office discussed possible technical difficulties in the purchase of land and buildings at the Yates-Camosun-Johnson Street site for $90,400.

Several weeks delay is expected before a start can be made on Victoria's $82,000 garbage wharf project. First phase in a $240,000 renovation of existing facilities was approved by city council last week, but approval of the work must be obtained from the federal government. Federal authorities control the harbor and had earlier classed the run-down incinerator and wharf as an "unlawful structure."

Keith Starling, 1660 Island Highway, told Esquimalt police early today he had picked up a sailor heading for HMCS Naden and drove him to Admirals Road where the car was taken away from him.

Police recovered the auto at 6:30 a.m. parked in the 1100 block of Lockley.

Police said the sleeping bags were stored in the basement of the Caledonia street house prior to the theft.

Q. I have a Canadian five-cent piece marked 1751-1951. Has it any significance or value? C.M.D.

A. There were about 8,000,000 of these minted by the Canadian government in 1951 to commemorate the isolation of nickel. They are worth five cents only. Few are in circulation.

Q. Can you please inform me if a New Brunswick one-cent, 1864, piece has any collector's value? J.H.

A. It's worth 10 cents, if in good condition.

Answering a question answered in a recent issue of the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, questions and answers will be published daily.

that he could be transformed into a swaggering cavalier who causes mothers to pull their daughters off the streets when he passes by.

So he pretends he entered a Centennial beard-growing contest to be "one of the boys." Why spoil his wife's summer? She has a right to celebrate B.C.'s centenary too.

He doesn't fool anyone with his self-conscious laughter. This man knows he is growing a winner. His beard will not be the funniest or the most original. But it will be the most handsome.

Locally, he has entered one of four contests. Beard backers here are the Junior Chamber of Commerce with 150 entries to date; the B.C. Government Employees' Association, and four horsemen clubs with more than 100 entries each, and Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros. Ltd. with 25.

Riders in the Garden City Horsemen's Club, Victoria Riding Academy and Hunt Club, Victoria Western Horsemen and Colwood Trail Riders are nourishing beards for a grand send-off of a six-horse stage on the Victoria to Barkerville run May 8.

Employees of the construction firm are just having fun. They shaved for the last time Monday and will compete for prizes on Victoria Day, May 19.

TOLERANT WIVES

Wives of the big-hearted boys are surprisingly tolerant.

They don't come right out and say they detest beards, as any woman in her right mind would.

They married the men, they have to live with them so they humor them.

Even Mrs. Bob Owens, whose dark-thatched husband is fondling a half-inch bright red beard, has a kind word to say.

"I don't like beards much," she confessed, "but if everyone's doing it, it's okay. Really, it's quite funny."

Mrs. Fred Warman's husband is among the 25 who showed their razors to the back of the drawer Monday.

DIDN'T LOOK

She did let slip, however, that she hadn't looked at her husband this morning.

Mrs. Larry Brule got a full-face, before-breakfast view of her other half, but she recoiled gracefully.

"I think it's okay," she said, "alright for fun."

Two wives actually like the collar-dusters.

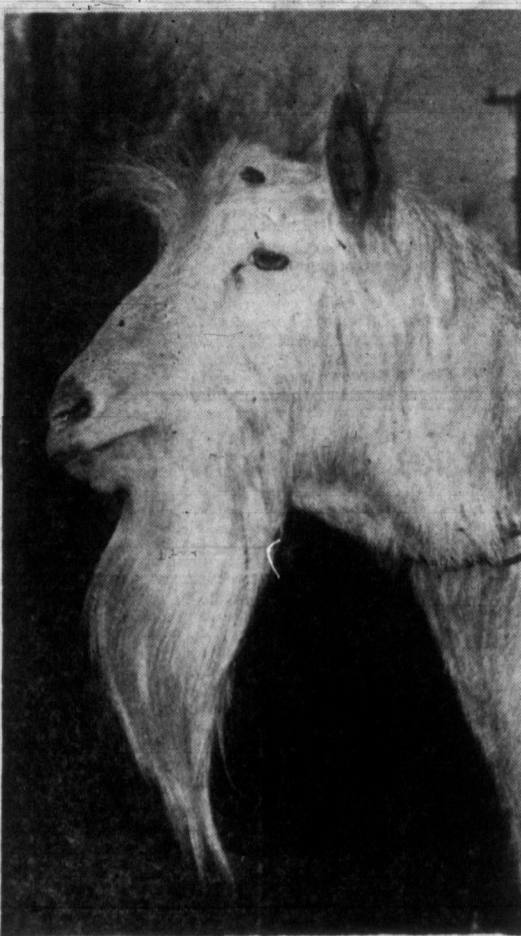

"It should look quite good," said Mrs. Kenneth Kidd, whose husband is a government employee.

Mrs. Don McHardie has convinced herself that it improves her Jaycee husband's appearance.

"He's quite a heavy man," she explained, "and it makes him look thinner."

But Mrs. George McGee, wife of the well-known rider, had the most typical reaction.

"It's pretty bad," she said, "but I'm getting used to it."

WARMEST FEB. 18 ON RECORD AS TEMPERATURE HITS 57.1

A minor weather record was set here Tuesday when the temperature reached 57.1 degrees, highest ever recorded for Feb. 18.

Weatherman William Mackie said that the mean temperature for the month to date is 45.5 degrees, or a bit more than five degrees above the normal mean for February.

Present mild weather will continue tonight and Thursday, Mr. Mackie said, with cloudy skies and a few "light sprinkles" of rain. Temperature will range between 45 and 52 degrees, and winds will be easterly at 15 miles per hour.

Second Burglary At Food Market

Burglars active in the Victoria area today posed problems for police with:

The second break-in over a four-day period into a Saanich food market.

Mysterious return, by mail, of a portion of loot from a Victoria antique dealer, taken last Friday.

Eng's Foodliner, 3475 Quadra, was burglarized for the second time in four days overnight. A front door was forced and about $300 worth of cigarettes stolen.

And about $270 worth of art objects, medals, decorations and coinage, part of $556 worth stolen last Friday night from the Captain's Antique Shop, 1031 Fort, were mailed back in two parcels Tuesday.

The previous robbery at the Foodliner took place early Saturday when thieves entered a skylight, broke through a false ceiling, and took $100 in silver from a cash box.

In today's break-in, burglars caused extensive damage to a glass and steel door which they broke and forced open with a crowbar or other heavy tool.

Police were alerted at about 4 a.m., when city police were asked to set up a roadblock at Quadra and Tolmie.

At 4:10 a.m. Saanich police reported finding some cigarettes and a display rack in a vacant lot beside Shillington's Store, 3433 Quadra.

The parcels returned to the antique shop have not so far been traced by police or post-office officials.

The items were taken while Capt. L. J. M. Gauvreau, proprietor, attended a numismatic meeting.

In the packages were a $75 silver, gold and enamelled KCMG decoration with case; a $95 mounted Madonna and Child statue; $50 in 1954 Canadian coins; half of a tray full of 30 Canadian silver dollars (1958), other coins and plastic coin holders valued at $75, and a four-stamp block of 1884 Victoria dark stamps worth $17.50.

Still missing are about $270 worth of Canadian, Newfoundland and foreign coins, miscellaneous coins and two bronze centenary medals in plastic holders.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Wesley Lario Umphrey, 1919 Colville, $25 for driving without a licence.

Three Seeking Liberal Banner

Fairey, Nelles To Oppose Ellis

A three-way contest for Victoria Liberal candidacy in the forthcoming federal election was assured today. Saanich Councillor Charles Nelles said he would permit his name to stand at the party nominating convention Friday night.

Oak Bay Councillor Geoffrey Ellis said Tuesday he would stand for the candidacy.

Earlier, former Liberal MP for Victoria, Dr. F. T. Fairey, said if the party wanted him, he would allow his name to go before the nominating convention.

At the time it appeared an International Labor Office (of the UN) posting to Korea might mean Dr. Fairey would have to stand in absentia.

He said today, however, the posting has been indefinitely postponed and he would not be called to the Far East prior to the March 31 election.

FRIDAY NIGHT

"My name, I think, will be before the nominating convention."

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Liberal headquarters, 1322 Government.

Dr. Fairey expressed pleasure at the decision of the "younger men" to seek the Liberal candidacy and described both as "fine men."

Coun. Nelles, 41, is the son of the late Admiral Percy W. Nelles, wartime chief of naval staff. His election to Saanich council last December was his first excursion into political life. He is a city wholesaler.

"I see this election as a straight fight between forward looking Liberalism and outright reaction," said Coun. Nelles.

City alderman Hugh Ramsay has also been mentioned as a possible nominee for the Liberal candidacy, but he said today he definitely would be unable to accept.

The nominating convention Friday night will complete the election candidacy picture for Victoria.

The Conservatives have nominated A. DeB. McPhillips, who was elected in the last federal election. The Social Credit has named Victoria Alderman E. D. McEwen, and the Victoria CCF has named Victor Williams as its standard bearer.

Yarrows Bid Wins Contract To Build Hull

Yarrows Ltd. will be given a contract to build the hull of a department of transport buoy tender and supply vessel, according to Canadian Press reports of a speech by Transport Minister George Hees.

Officials of the firm here said they had received no contract as yet, and that they believed low tender on the vessel had been submitted by Burrard Dry Dock, Vancouver.

Mr. Hees is reported as saying the hull would be built by Yarrows, and the fitting-out done by Burrard Dry Dock.

Total cost of the vessel, which would be suitable for search and rescue work, is estimated at $3,000,000.

It is part of a $12,300,000 government shipbuilding program recently announced at Ottawa.

Record Demand

Demand for tickets for this weekend's pair of Victoria Symphony Orchestra "pops" concerts has risen to an unprecedented high.

The concerts, at which Swiss pianist, Boris Roubakine is to perform the Schumann Piano Concerto, promise to be double sellouts.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Two statements made here Monday night, by the Hon. Davie Fulton puzzle me.

One was his flat assertion that the "proper figure" for unemployment in Canada today was 386,000.

A few hours later his own government announced from Ottawa that the "hard total" was 520,000 out of work and actively seeking jobs.

In other words, the minister erred by something more than 25 per cent on the conservative—write that small or large "C"—side.

The second statement I found baffling was his quote: "By knowledge, experience, background and training, Bert McPhillips is the best man Victorians could elect to represent them."

Perhaps my old friend Davie may be excused for this excess of enthusiasm on filial grounds, since McPhillips is his cousin.

But let's suppose he actually believes what he said. On what is this lavish opinion based?

There are two simple tests a voter may indulge when he steps into the polling booth:

(1) What service has the candidate rendered to his community? and (2) what service is his record in the House, as revealed by Hansard?

I submit that on both these counts McPhillips strikes out.

If Bert has ever served on the board of any major community enterprise, it has escaped my notice. What has he done for the Community Chest? The Town Planning Commission? The Salvation Army or Boy Scouts Association? The Art Gallery or the Symphony Society?

The fact is that there are hundreds of Victorians, plugging along quietly each day, who have done more for Victoria than their sitting member.

The second point has been referred to in this space before—last January 20, to be precise.

At that time, I wrote McPhillips had made Victoria the laughing-stock of Ottawa with his disastrous January 6 speech in the House. Our member subsequently wrote to me, saying that he "questioned the value" of my criticizing him from a distance of 3,000 miles.

So, now that he is home, I gladly repeat the charge here—the January 6 speech, as revealed in Hansard, is a disgrace to this community. If you don't want to take my word for it, get a copy and read it for yourself. It is an epic exercise in fatuity.

TAG-EATING BURRO HEADED FOR COLWOOD?

A Colwood man fears that a burro stranded in Wenatchee, Wash., because it ate its shipping tags, might possibly have been assigned to him.

George Hooper, 2465 Sooka Road, has been expecting his sister in California to send him one of the little grey donkeys, and has sent her a telegram asking to be brought up to date on "Operation Burro."

Railroad officials in Wenatchee are fairly certain the burro they have among the "lost and found" items at their express office was consigned to Wenatchee, and are waiting for a claim to be made.

City Frigate First to Aid Of Drifting Tug

The Pacific Command frigate HMCS Sussexvale was the first to reach the scene Tuesday night when a U.S. Navy tug wirelessed that her tow was out of control in heavy seas near Swiftnore lightship, and nine ships raced to her aid.

Included were two Island Tug and Barge tows, Ss. Sudbury and Island Navigator.

The tug Yuma, classed as a fleet ocean tug, was towing the mothballed helicopter carrier Tinian from Seattle bound for San Diego when the weather built up and the tow lost seaway.

At 4 p.m. tug and tow were drifting helplessly in the teeth of 60 mile per hour winds. But the crisis passed by 5 p.m., when the two ships proceeded to the sheltered waters of Neah Bay.

Today tug and tow passed through Juan de Fuca Strait, bound back to Seattle to await better weather conditions.

$10,000 Bail For Suspect In Duncan Case

Whiff of Lavender New Tourist Bait?

A proposal is being studied by the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group to give Victoria a "lavender fragrance."

It is all part of a design to impress visitors that the city is not only radiantly beautiful but "sweet smelling."

Purple lavender is one of the most successful sweet-smelling plants grown on Southern Vancouver Island.

The proposal by "welcome wagon" hostess Avis Walton, calls for the giving away of lavender sprigs, corsages and bouquets to visitors.

In addition, it has been suggested that a machine be used to fill the air with lavender spray as visitors come off CPR boats and TCA planes.

"Give the visitors a whiff of lavender as they enter the city," explained Mrs. Walton, "and they will never forget Victoria."

Mrs. Walton's proposal won the approval of the majority of members of the tourist group.

"A pleasant smell is seductive," said one member. "It's one of man's six senses which hasn't been exploited by the tourist industry."

But one motel keeper pointed out that the Orientals have long ago exploited scent to attract people. They used sweet smelling plants to entice visitors to holy shrines, he said.

Mrs. Walton, who has given thousands of sprigs of lavender to visitors, said the sweet-smelling plant works wonders.

"They want to know all about lavender," she said, "and how it is grown. It's a good tourist gimmick."

Vancouver Island, she said, grey some of the world's best lavender.

"WIDOWHOOD" The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the seventh in a series of articles frankly written to be of service to the four out of five wives who will someday also face widowhood.

CHAPTER 7

Ironically, the myriad details of reassembling a kind of order to family life shattered by the loss of husband and father is the best therapy a widow could have.

There are so many legal matters to look into, so many changes to attend to that she does not have time to dwell on her grief.

Furthermore, she is disturbed by the chaos of her affairs. She feels a compulsion to put things as right as possible, eager to be able to control her life again.

Symbolic of this restlessness and impatience at loose ends, I believe, was my impulse to clean out cupboards, and closets and to straighten chests of drawers, instead of pacing miserably, nervously.

Physically tired then at last I would fill my mind with calculations on the state of family finances and make long mental lists of legal things which needed attending, until I fell asleep.

The widow will probably need photostatic copies of her husband's death certificate.

Life insurance companies, mortgage companies, and all companies holding life insured installment contracts need these as legal proof of the death of her husband.

She must notify utility companies, department stores, auto insurance firms, and all creditors of her new status as a widow. Under her own name, say Mrs. John Doe, she must assume the legal responsibility for these debts. She will become owner after proper legal steps to homes and automobiles purchased jointly, as well as money in joint bank accounts, at the passing of her husband.

There are insurance papers to fill out. If there is a will, it must be filed in probate court.

Needless to say, even the family with almost no assets is wise to consult a qualified lawyer to see her safely through these many details. A widow with considerable property or business probably already has the services of her husband's lawyer to guide her. But if she does not, she would be foolish indeed to tackle the complexities without one.

Government pensions and allowances may mean nothing to her at all or everything, depending upon her age, finances and number of children.

In Canada a widow with children is eligible for a mother's allowance, which is paid on the same scale as social assistance.

A non-working widow, with two children and assets of no more than $250, would receive $104.50 a month.

When her children reach the age of 16, they are not eligible for allowance benefits unless they can show satisfactory progress in school. If recommended by their schools, they are eligible until age 18.

However, if the widow is unemployed when her children are past the age limit, she is still entitled to the monthly $55 social assistance allowance for single persons.

Make Piping Hot Lobster Bisque For a Delicious Lenten Dinner

Lenten dishes can be interesting. Try, for example, this delicious lobster bisque made from frozen lobster and see if you don't get raves from all the family. The following recipes for codfish cakes and halibut steaks are just two more reasons why you can truly enjoy your meals during Lent.

LOBSTER BISQUE

One (14-oz.) can frozen lobster, 1 small onion, sliced; 6 cups milk, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento, ½ cup heavy cream, 3 tablespoons sherry. Dash cayenne.

Thaw lobster meat; cut into bite-sized chunks. Add onion to milk; scald over boiling water. Strain to remove onion when scalding temperature is reached.

Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Add hot milk gradually and cook over low heat until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add lobster and pimiento. Heat over boiling water for 10 minutes. Shortly before serving stir in cream, sherry and cayenne. Serve piping hot, garnished with a sprinkling of finely-chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

CODFISH CAKES

One pound cod fillets (2 cups cooked and flaked), 2½ cups diced raw potatoes (2 cups cooked and mashed), ½ cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter, salt to taste, dash pepper, 1 egg (beaten), ½ cup fine, dry bread crumbs or finely chopped nuts, fat for frying.

Cook and flake fillets. Cook diced potatoes in boiling, salted water until tender, then drain. Pan fry onion over low heat in 2 tablespoons of butter until soft but not brown. Add cooked potato to fried onion, mash potato and onion together. Stir in flaked cod. Season to taste. Coat with fine, dry bread crumbs or finely chopped nuts. Pan fry cakes in hot fat until golden brown. Serve piping hot with or without a sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

HALIBUT STEAKS COUNTRY STYLE

Two pounds halibut steaks, salt and pepper, ½ cup chopped green onions and tops, ½ pint commercial sour cream.

If steaks are frozen, allow to thaw at refrigerator temperature. Season with salt and pepper, place in a shallow, greased, baking dish. Top with finely chopped green onions and their tops. Spread thick sour cream over steaks and topping. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

DIETER'S DELIGHT

Core a bright red McIntosh apple, but do not peel. Cut in lengthwise slices about ½ inch thick. Spread with creamed cheese seasoned with celery salt, dip in finely chopped nuts.

ANNUAL MEETING

Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter Does Outstanding Service, Education Work

Service work and education being prime concerns of Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter, IODE, report of services at home and abroad convener, Mrs. A. H. Spilsbury, was of particular importance at the chapter's annual meeting Tuesday evening.

She noted the chapter had paid hospital bills and bought food for a needy family, supplied the Veterans' Hospital with flowers and sent subscriptions to magazines and occupational therapy supplies to the hospital patients.

Toys and candy were sent to children of Hungarian immigrants, and 68 pocket novels and many magazines were placed in Seamen's Institute.

Mrs. Spilsbury also reported that a large shipment of surplus clothing was sent overseas and that more surplus clothing and household equipment were donated to Goodwill Enterprises for their work with the handicapped.

Educational secretary, Mrs. H. Molyneux, reported that a total of $315.64 was spent during the year on the following: $150 bursary won by Miss Elizabeth McIntosh; citizenship prizes for 22 pupils at the chapter's adopted school at Langford; encyclopaedias to adopted school at Aleza Lake; copies of "Land of Shining Mountains" sent to each adopted school, and donations to Golden Jubilee Scholarship, Provincial Centennial Scholarship and secondary education.

Secretary, Mrs. Roy Rogers, said main money-making projects were a luncheon, party, rummage sales, children's fancy dress ball and sale of corsages.

Mrs. E. A. Eames, treasurer, gave receipts as $888.53 and disbursements, $984.64.

Mrs. Arthur Laundry reported for immigration and citizenship committee and as standard bearer.

Echoes report was given by Mrs. W. West.

Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, honorary regent, installed the new slate of officers: Mrs. P. Bell, regent; Miss Joan French, first vice-regent; Mrs. V. Downard, second; Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury, secretary; Mrs. E. Eames, treasurer; Mrs. H. Molyneux, educational; Mrs. C. R. Stein, Echoes; Mrs. A. Laundry, standard bearer; Mrs. W. West, services at home and abroad, and Mrs. A. F. Taylor, assistant secretary.

Councillors for the coming year are Mrs. L. Pope, Mrs. R. Hocking, Mrs. J. Pollard, Mrs. J. Speck and Mrs. J. Horne.

Luncheons in Admiral's House

Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner and Mrs. Rayner entertained at a luncheon party in Admiral's House, HMC Dockyard, Monday to honor Gen. C. Foulkes, chairman of chief of staff in Ottawa, and Mrs. Foulkes, who are spending several days in Victoria.

On Thursday, Admiral and Mrs. Rayner will give a small luncheon for Commodore D. L. Raymond of Ottawa.

Bridge Party

The bridge club of the Engineers' Wives Association, recently held a bridge tea at the Beach Drive home of Mrs. C. W. Nash. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements were Mrs. R. E. Potter, Mrs. A. F. Paget and Mrs. C. K. Saunders.

In the North

Charters were presented to business and professional women's clubs in Terrace and Kitimat last weekend by Miss E. L. Forbes, a board member of Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women. Miss Forbes spent five days in the north, traveling by CPA. In Terrace she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Partington at their home at the airport and in Kitimat the guest of Miss Margaret Duff at Nechako Lodge, the Alcan guest house.

At Ski Lodge

Recent guests at Forbidden Plateau Ski Lodge were Victorians Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Markand, Mrs. V. Tudor, Misses R. Antekainen, Pat Moulds, Nancy Clark, Gale Williams, M. Good fellow, Mr. Tom Ruddy, Mr. Roderick MacLeod, Mr. Kenneth Milner, Mr. John Veit, Mr. P. M. Hall, Mr. C. R. Harvey, Mr. Roy Hughes and Mr. Denny Parker.

Couple Feted

An informal party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson, 1530 Midgard Avenue, to honor Miss Barbara Fallas, March bride-elect, and her fiancé, Mr. Brian Collis. A gift was presented to them by Miss Fallas' former co-workers at the income tax branch of the provincial government. Upon arrival Miss Fallas received a corsage of pink roses. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. George Burnell, Mr. E. Alan Porter, Mr. H. P. Hold, Misses Shirley Grant, K. Dillon, Kay Dixon and Ruth McAllister.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Young will have as their guests for two weeks Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Donahue of Calgary, Alta. Mr. and Mrs. Donahue will arrive this weekend to stay at the Youngs' home on Lansdowne Road.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Barbara Fallas was honored recently at a shower held in the Maddock Street home of Mrs. N. Coles. Co-hostesses were Miss Doreen Coles and Miss Suzanne Buttrey. On arrival Miss Fallas and her mother, Mrs. Carl Fallas, received corsages of red and white carnations. Little Shelley Coles presented gifts to the bride-elect. Guests included Mrs. E. Coles, Mrs. S. Rhodes, Mrs. D. Cameron and the Misses Ann Lyn Florence, Yvonne Spencer, Fay Blausk, Verna Smith, Beverley Hall, Shirley Grant, Kaulwant Dillon and Leona Orchard.

Miss Fallas was honored at another shower given by Mrs. B. Frost and Mrs. Harold Fallas at the latter's home on Donaldson Street. The bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Carl Fallas, received corsages of pink carnations. Games were played. There were 27 guests.

THEIR WEDDING DAY

Leaving St. John's Anglican Church following their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Gillam. The bride, formerly Miss Jette Jorgensen, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jens M. Jorgensen and the groom is son of Mrs. J. W. Gillam. Canon T. W. Scott conducted the ceremony for the couple. The bride's gown is white satin with an overskirt of silk tulle and bodice of delicate lace. (Photo by Chevrons.)

Patterson-Grute Wedding In St. Martin's Church

Miss Carol Florence Grute, daughter of Mrs. Arthur C. Hancock, Lake Cowichan, and Thomas Grute, Winnipeg, and James Hall Patterson, Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Patterson of Edmonton were married in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church recently with Canon S. J. Wickens officiating.

Spring flowers decorated the altar and chancel for the ceremony.

The dark-haired bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of Guipure lace in white. The slim torso extended to a full skirt and the bodice featured a cut-away neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. A tiny coronet held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses backed with white net sprinkled with silver hearts. Her only jewelry was a gold cross with matching earrings.

Traditional organ music was played for the ceremony.

Maid of honor Miss Bonnie Miles and bridesmaids Miss Joyce Schuring and Miss Stephanie Steadman wore identical ballerina length dresses in red lace. All wore bandeaus of white carnations. Their heart-shaped bouquets were of white carnations.

Roy Tuttle was best man and ushers were James Sutton and Ernest Lindner.

A three-tier cake made by the bride's mother centred the bridal table at a reception in Hampton Hall. White candles and spring flowers flanked the cake.

R. N. Mansergh, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

A white wool dress was worn by the new Mrs. Patterson for a wedding trip up Island. Black and turquoise accessories, complemented the outfit. She topped the dress with a black duster coat. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will live in Victoria.

Education System Should Change; Correspond with Modern Times

Dr. Henrietta Anderson urged the public to take a "second look" at education when she gave her report as chairman of education at the Tuesday session of the Local Council of Women annual meeting.

She explained that there have been many changes in living in recent years and that schools should change to correspond. There should be more stress on training for trades. "Too many students who do not have sufficient ability go to university, where there is a shortage of professors," she pointed out.

Speaking to the council, J. H. Ford, president of the Victoria branch of the United Nations, explained that the UN is not a super state but an instrument for diplomacy for united action. Cost of operating the UN is now $100,000,000, of which Canada pays $3,000,000.

Chairman of the B.C. centennial committee, Laurie Wallace addressed the council Tuesday afternoon, naming two objectives of the committee as being: 1. To bring people into the province for the celebrations.

2. To convince the B.C. public to stay at home during the birthday year.

Giving chairmen's reports were Mrs. H. R. MacKenzie, arts and letters; Mrs. G. E. Bissley, citizenship; and Mrs. Blair Reid, archives.

Affiliates' reports were given by Mrs. E. Watling, White Cane Club; Mrs. G. Morrow, Altruists; Mrs. R. Hogarth, Registered Nurses; Dr. H. Anderson, Nursery School Association; Mrs. E. Barker, Victoria Social Credit Women's Auxiliary; Mrs.

H. Ketchell, Liberal Women's Forum; Mrs. E. Barker, James Bay United Church Women's Association; and Mrs. E. Four-aces, Native Daughters of B.C., Post No. 3.

Among reports given Monday were Mrs. F. A. Smith, chairman of trades and professions for women and University Women's Club; Mrs. George Sterling, Victoria CCF; Mrs. J. O. Clay, Senior Citizens Campaign Council; and Mrs. E. Berry, Victoria Women's Institute.

Dress is lined with lightweight pellon to shape the smart Empire bodice and hold the skirt crisply full without use of crinoline.

Sew a Stylish Costume

Cool for country, covered up for town is Anne Adams new Printed Pattern 4792—a dress-and-jacket duo smoothly fitted to the waist above a breeze-blown princess skirt. Shown here in an airy cotton print, it's a versatile design that adapts also to supple, silk shantung or pique in a pretty pastel or one of the new, light and lovely citrus shades of melon, lemon, or lime.

Perfect under-propping for the silhouette is the lightweight Pellon lining which shapes the Empire midriff and takes the place of a petticoat under the skirt. Even on the hottest summer days, Pellon keeps a skirt looking crisp and fresh. Of course, the interfacing is not affected by bleaches so that the dress can be washed without ever losing its lovely shape.

Sewing? Very easy, even if you believe you're "all thumbs." Printed directions on each pattern part take you step by step from cutting to sewing.

Printed Pattern 4792 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 dress and jacket require 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch fabric.

Just send 50 cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Printed Pattern 4792. Please print plainly size, name, address and style number. Send to Anne Adams, care of The Times, Pattern Department, 60 Front St. W., Toronto 1-A, Ont.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Keep this wedding simple: My fiancé is 42 and I am 30. Our marriage will be my first and his second. Several relatives and close friends are persistently urging me to plan a church wedding, wear a wedding gown and veil and have three or four attendants. I find the idea appealing and it would be financially feasible within reasonable limits. However, these days the average "first time" bride is in her early 20s or late teens and I feel that perhaps in my case a church wedding with the trimmings would be juvenile. What would you suggest?

Louise Davis answers: If I were you, I would not go along with the suggestions for a wedding involving gown, veil and attendants. It is advisable to lean over backwards and be conservative in cases like yours, and I suggest that you have the simplest kind of wedding and without the fanfare as far as bridal party is concerned. It does seem a little immature for a bride in her 30s. Since this will be your fiancé's second marriage, all the better that you "play it down" and thus avoid any criticism. I think it would be much better if you wear a pretty afternoon dress and hat and suggest but one attendant for you and a best man for the bridegroom. Your wedding can still be in church with families and friends present. Though simple in its appointments, it can be just as lovely without the trimmings.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FIG MUFFINS

One egg, 1 cup milk, 1 cup bran cereal, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, 1 cup chopped cooked dried figs, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder.

Beat egg lightly and combine with milk and bran cereal. Let stand about 5 minutes. Stir in shortening and figs. Sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Add to first mixture and stir until all of flour is moistened. Spoon into greased muffin pans. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Can't Afford 'Empty' Calories When Dieting

A Marathon entrant writes: "I am losing weight success-fully. This is the end of my fourth week of diet and exercise and the difference is already thrilling to me—and also to my husband. However, I want to be sure that I am planning my meals properly and not leaving out any essential foods. Which foods should I leave off? Which must I have?"

You've heard the song, "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby?" Well, there are some foods which can't give you anything but calories, lady. That is not literally true, but the foods I am thinking of give you what nutritionists call "empty" calories. By this they mean the foods which are not essential to health.

Naturally, when on a reducing diet, you should try to obtain your calories from foods which are the best sources in the food classification to which they belong. You cannot afford the "trimmings," or "empty" calories if you seriously wish to lose weight attractively and safely.

The modern reducing diet is high in protein and minerals and vitamins. Lean meat or fish or fowl should be on the menu every day. Eggs are important items on the slimming diet because of their protein and mineral and vitamin content—and only for 75 calories an egg. Take yours boiled, baked or poached, not fried.

Two glasses of milk a day should be included, preferably skim or powdered fat-free milk. You must have some carbohydrates; cereals, potatoes and bread. You can bake your potato and use skim milk on saucers, fat meat, fried foods and tidbits.

Take average servings and no seconds. Eat a varied diet but smaller amounts!

If you failed to join my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and would like to do so for a loss of 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TRIBUTE TO CHETWYND FROM LABOR MINISTER

Tribute to the late Ralph Chetwynd as "a great Canadian and a great British Columbian" was paid in the Legislature Tuesday by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

"He served the province well in many capacities. In his latter years as minister of agriculture and minister of railways, his buoyancy, cheerful spirit and amazing capacity and drive made a permanent mark on the face of British Columbia.

"His interest in the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and his untiring effort to make it the best railway in North America was a symbol of his wisdom and faith in this great province of ours."

Mr. Chetwynd died last April while still serving as agriculture minister.

DEADLINE 10 DAYS AWAY

Hectic Week Due In Licence Sales

Motor vehicles branch staff is looking forward to a steaming head of business in licence sales next week.

Sales to date this year are down compared with previous years, deputy superintendent Ray Hadfield said.

"It is not as brisk as it should be to keep down last-minute steam," he said.

Deadline for new plates is a week Friday, and an estimated 25,000 plates must be sold by then if all motorists are to comply with the law and show new plates March 1.

"It looks like a good heavy week next week," the deputy said.

Including mail orders, which come from all parts of the province and are included in Victoria sales totals, the branch has disposed of nearly 50,000 licences, but there is a 7.8 per cent increase in the number of vehicles on the road this year as compared with 1957.

All told in B.C. to date there are 490,000 vehicles registered.

Bible Society Official Made Life Member

H. L. Hopkins, secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society here, was named a life member of the parent society at the annual meeting Monday.

He has served as secretary of the local group for six years and has been an active member for 10.

Life membership certificates were presented to Rev. J. C. McDonald, rector of the Anglican Church at Metchosin, and James Willard, Victoria.

JAMES RE-ELECTED

Dr. F. E. H. James, Metropolitan United Church, was re-elected president.

Executive members are Dean Brian Whitlow, vice-president; Mr. Hopkins, secretary; R. S. Niven, treasurer, and Rev. G. R. Easter, Rev. T. H. McAllister, Rev. A. F. Grobe, Rev. Denny Bright, Dr. W. A. Ferguson, Rev. J. C. McDonald, W. R. Walters, William Hick, W. Hogg, J. Archer, F. J. Martens, Maj. Frank Watson, Rev. Lorne I. Nadiger, Rev. Alvin C. Hamill, Rev. Cecil Barner, Canon K. R. Sampson and Dr. Brian H. Roberts, members of the executive committee. Mrs. Grace Tucker is collector.

Last year's quota of $4,500 was exceeded by more than $500, Mr. Niven reported. Goal this year is $6,000.

During the year 257 Bibles were presented by the society to new Canadians.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—

It's so cold here that refrigerated boxcars are being heated. The United Fruit Company said its freight cars carrying bananas brought from Honduras normally have to be cooled to prevent too-rapid ripening of the fruit, but in the current cold wave the bananas have to be kept from freezing.

WORMS

MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... say parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of these ugly pests they must be killed in the intestines where they live and multiply. And that's exactly what Jayne's Vermifuge does... kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Then they are expelled from the system in a normal manner and you are free of them.

For your own sake and the health of your children and loved ones, don't put off treatment. Get started with Jayne's at the very first sign of Pin-Worms. For once established these parasites are highly contagious and often spread through entire families.

So be sure to ask your druggist for Jayne's, famous for worm remedies for over one hundred years.

THE HOME OF HOME BUILDERS

IT'S A CHANGING WORLD

And we read and see so much of the wonderful things planned for the future. All the scientific advances that are expected to be so beneficial to mankind. But what about the basic facts—we still require food—clothing and housing. What's more we don't expect that the fundamentals of housing will change very much. The functional purpose will be much the same. That's why you can safely plan your future investment in a house of your own—make it a family security. Naturally, we are ready to help you in home planning service recommended contractors, financial assistance and a complete line of building materials.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

What appears to be a headache since you want to get off to exciting new ventures and pleasures can easily be eliminated by planning your time wisely. Do important things only then off you go. P.M. wonderful for new kind of fun.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

While experts do not agree with your plans for plunging into some expensive venture, you may decide today to go ahead with it anyway. Be sure to use your mind, not your emotions. P.M. be happily engaged.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)

Here is a day that, if you permit your natural inclination for having a great, good time, could cause much worry later and altercation with associate or boss. Stick to your work, give it your best. P.M. add prestige will be yours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)

If you plan your work more efficiently today, you can clear it up in a very short time and then dash off to some delightful places, do things that uplift your soul and increase mind-power. P.M. dwell on fun alone.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)

During a.m. hours do not plan any new investments, etc., but concentrate on getting your credit up higher, holding well organized and safely adjusted, security records in order, etc. P.M. use better psychology on mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

Morning could be fraught with worry over some pending argument between a close tie and a stranger. See that the two are kept out of each other's way. P.M. excellent for more efficient, important work being done.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

The labors that must be performed today will necessarily keep you confined, so make up your mind to clear them up and put thoughts of visiting, etc., out of your head. Tonight, take a little trip with friend and be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Today's smile of yours today can help your fellow man no end so use it often. Also, it will help you over a rather difficult money situation. P.M. ideal for planning the coming weeks ahead very cleverly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

It is hard for you to know why close family ties are in the mood they are in, take the attitudes they do. Don't try to figure them out. Do some gardening, other pleasant simple chores.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Be particularly careful on the road today, driving, etc., and do not criticize others and get them upset. Kindness and gentility will pay large dividends today. Tonight, excellent for conference with important personage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

It would be fatal to spend your hard-earned savings today. Spend time instead figuring ways of increasing same and in safe fashion. Economy will bring wonderful ideas. P.M. a dear friend will make the evening delightful for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

It seems to you that someone in political life is giving you quite a cleaning, or you want to strike out at somebody else in power. Relax, stick to your knitting. P.M. make wiser time schedule, plan better investments.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY

The wonderful child born Thursday is the type who, despite the rather harsh rebuffs and vicissitudes of life which he or she will have to meet, can still rise above them and do a very great deal. Hence, do not try to shield your youngster too much in childhood. Do your best

Soldiers Fined $75 For Molesting Boys

Three Work Point soldiers each were fined $75 in city police court Tuesday for molesting a group of news carrier boys and creating a disturbance on Broad Street Jan. 18 at about 5 a.m.

All pleaded guilty Monday.

They were John Barkley and George Ducharme, both privates, and Cpl. Richard Parisian, all of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Cons. James Ramsay told the court he arrived at Broad and Yates to find a group of boys lined up against a wall with the soldiers holding them across the sidewalk facing the boys "in charge."

Barkley returned later with three soldiers and chased the boys, about eight in the group, into the office, where they locked the door.

Three soldiers broke the door open, brought the boys out into the alley and lined them up against a wall.

Barkley and the other two accused then began slapping the boys' faces, punched one and knocked one's head against the wall.

The soldiers marched the boys out of the alley, pulling over and piling up bicycles as they left, and proceeded to Yates Street, where they were met by police.

A P.C.I. officer told the court Barkley and Ducharme had fair character records, and Parisian's record was good.

Mrs. Heath Rites Thursday

Funeral services will be held at St. Barnabas Church at 10.30 a.m. Thursday for Mrs. Victoria Emma Heath, a member of a prominent pioneer family, who died Monday following a short illness.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw, Mrs. Heath attended the Girls' Central School.

For many years she was an active member of the Women's Auxiliary and the Sunday School teaching staff of St. Barnabas Church. She was married in 1909 and lived at 329 Moss Street for the past 46 years.

Survivors include Mr. Heath, two nieces, Mrs. Charles Grant, 1227 Union Street, Mrs. Bert Johnston of Vancouver; three great nieces, Mrs. Llewellyn Best and Miss Jean Grant of Victoria, and Mrs. D. R. Ingram of Hamilton, Ont., a great nephew, Robert Johnston of Vancouver; and six great-great-nieces and four great-great-nephews.

A vesper service for Mrs. Heath will be held at St. Barnabas Church at 8.30 tonight.

'SERIOUS MISTAKE TO BUILD HOUSES' View Royal Group, Motel Owners Join Campaign to Save Peninsula

A city-wide movement to save beautiful Craigflower Peninsula on Portage Inlet from becoming a housing site continued to gain ground today.

The View Royal Community Association and the Victoria and Vicinity Motor Court Association threw their support behind the drive to have the privately owned property set aside as a park.

Already the Victoria Natural History Society, the Capital Region Planning Board, the Victoria Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, the Aquarium Society and individual citizens have requested the government purchase the half-mile long peninsula.

The provincial parks branch some time ago recommended that the peninsula be purchased for park development.

Jack Flower, president of the View Royal Community Association, said the government will be making a serious mistake if it allows the property to become a housing site.

"Should this area become a housing subdivision, it will remain forevermore a monument to the government's short-sightedness and the lack of interest in public health and recreation," he said.

Mr. Flower complained that the government was allowing the choice land of southern Vancouver Island to fall into private hands.

The government, he said, is 20 years behind the public in its thinking on parks.

"The day when governments ignore park development is over," he said. "The policy of 'laissez-faire' and 'who cares about the future generation' is a thing of the past."

The government has done nothing so far to provide or assist communities in unorganized territory with property for park development, he said. (View Royal is unorganized territory.)

This meant, he said, when these communities became part of larger urban areas, there was no available land for miles around for park development.

"DISGRACE"

"It will also be a disgrace if the government allows a subdivision with septic tanks on the property when Saanich and Esquimalt have spent thousands of dollars in making the Gorge safe from pollution," he said.

Mike Harris, president of the Motor Court Association, said the Craigflower Peninsula was the last remaining historic area

Gas Price Slashed Four Cents For Northeast Area of B.C.

(FROM CP DISPATCHES) DAWSON CREEK — A four-cent-a-gallon reduction in gasoline prices throughout a wide area of northeast British Columbia and northern Alberta was announced Tuesday by Imperial Oil Ltd.

R. S. Ritchie, manager of Imperial's B.C. marketing division, said the reductions are the result of the company's review of supply sources and transportation methods.

The area affected will be supplied with products from Imperial's refineries at Taylor Flats and Dawson Creek in northeastern B.C. At present, gasoline is transported to the area from Edmonton.

The reduction will bring the wholesale price of regular grade gasoline down to 23.4 cents a gallon.

Retail price of gasoline in Dawson Creek before the reduction was 46 cents a gallon.

appears to be having a lean winter.

Recently Claude Baker, working on logging roads east of here, found an emaciated marten curled up in the cab of his truck when he started to drive it home.

S. S. Harrison reports a grey timberwolf, also in poor condition, on the prowl within 100 yards of his house. When fed, these animals are careful to give humans a wide berth, experts said.

On the other hand, a 200-inch snowfall is helping to save moose and deer from predatory animals, which find it hard to trail their prey in deep, soft snow.

CONVERSION CHARGE

PRINCE GEORGE — William Shaw, 52, Tuesday was charged with criminal conversion of his mother's $12,038 estate. He elected trial by judge and jury.

The crown alleges Shaw was a trustee under the will of his deceased mother, Emilie Shaw, and that he converted the proceeds and assets of the estate to himself, which was not authorized by the trust.

Magistrate P. J. Moran in police court here set bail at $5,000.

HUGE AUCTION

VANCOUVER — A sale of 625 pieces of equipment used in the project 'Kitimat-Kemano power plant' in northern B.C. took place Tuesday at a Vancouver hotel.

The proposed expenditures for the full calendar year, with totals for the first quarter of 1958 in brackets:

Public works, $145,000.00; ($27,500.00); transport, $244,000.00; ($59,000.00); defence, $80,000.00; ($17,000.00); Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, $308,000.00; ($90,000.00); northern affairs and national resources, $300,000.00; ($85,000.00); Crown corporations, $72,000.00; ($23,000.00); Canadian National Railways, $140,000.00; ($15,000.00); support to other works projects such as the Trans-Canada Highway, hospital construction, railway grade crossings and technical schools, $100,000.00; ($30,000.00); other departments and agencies, $46,000.00; ($5,000.00).

The first quarter of 1958 covers the last three months of the current fiscal year, appropriations for which have largely been made public previously.

MLA Would Fire Misinforming Civil Servants

Wrong Information About Institutions

Provincial civil servants who give out incorrect information about government operations should be fired, a Vancouver Social Credit member told the Legislature Tuesday.

Fred Sharp, MLA for Vancouver East, said misinformation has been circulating in recent weeks about staff in provincial institutions.

These reports had been refuted by the cabinet ministers, he said, but contrary information is still being sent out.

DON'T HESITATE
"If information is being sent out, originating from sources within the departments, regardless of how dedicated the employee is supposed to be, he should be dismissed without hesitation," Mr. Sharp said.

The government backbencher said criticism of staff shortages at Woodlands School "should never have reached the stage it did."

"Such rumors and criticism should have been spiked at the outset rather than letting a situation involving so many people become a political football—and at the expense of the unfortunate."

BIG INDUSTRY
Meat animals are raised on 500,000 Canadian farms and ranches.

"What a mess I've made of things!"

His press agents fired him—his own manager called him an S.O.B.—and not even his mother-in-law was talking to him! In fact, things got so bad Vic considered quitting show business in spite of the fortune it paid him!

Now, in this week's Saturday Evening Post, the famous singer shows you the little-known mess behind his success by revealing the truth about his alleged connection with the underworld • his bitter battles with the press • his private brawl with the Army and his "professional black-out" after he was discharged • the way Mitch Miller had to trick him into recording one of his best sellers, "On the Street Where You Live" • his intense jealousy over his lovely cinema-actress wife, Pier Angeli, and why he calls her a dozen times a day when he's on the road.

Read "What a Mess I've Made of Things!" by Vic Damone as told to Post author Dean Jennings.

Also in this issue:

"The Great Winter-Olympics Fight" — the amazing story of how a super-salesman sold obscure Squaw Valley, California, to the world for the 1960 games—and the trouble we're having keeping some of the promises he made!

"Our Hottest New Weapon" — the inside story of the submarines that could "hit" the Russian mainland and probably never be detected!

JOHN D. 60% RATING

TORONTO (BUP)—Gallup Poll of Canada reported today that 60 per cent of Canadians approve the job being done by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

The nation-wide poll, conducted by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, said that in a similar survey last November, only 51 per cent of the voters approved of Mr. Diefenbaker's handling his job as prime minister.

On a regional basis, 68 per cent of those in the four western provinces approved Mr. Diefenbaker, 66 per cent in Ontario, 44 per cent in Quebec and 61 per cent in the Maritimes.

Russia Backs
Nuclear-Free
Zone Project

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia tonight promised to respect an atom-free zone in Central Europe if the United States, Britain and France did the same.

EGYPT-SUDAN SETTLE DISPUTE

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Egypt and Sudan settled their border dispute at talks in Cairo today, it was reported here tonight.

Cold War End
By Summit
Mac's Hope

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan today expressed the hope that some progress might be made at an East-West summit conference to end the "twilight between peace and war" in which the world now lives.

Opening a two-day foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, Macmillan said he is not without hope that some progress might be made toward relieving the pressures which have created this twilight—"a twilight almost like a nightmare."

"I want a summit conference but I do want it to be successful," he said.

"Positive disillusionment is more dangerous than the preservation of even the most tenuous expectation and I really do not want to have that again."

Macmillan said he saw disarmament as the subject that seemed likely to lead to some success at a summit conference.

If any progress could be made that would be by far the greatest contribution to the restoration of hope for the peoples of the world.

Manchester Wins

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Manchester United defeated Sheffield Wednesday 3-0 in a drama-packed English soccer cup match tonight—United's first game since seven of its stars were killed in the Munich plane crash Feb. 6.

$3.9 Billion Aid
Requested by Ike

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress for $3,942,000,000 in foreign aid. He said any sharp cut would lead to a massive increase in defence spending and higher taxes.

A cut would also result in a heavy increase in inductions of American youth into the armed forces, he said, and leave the United States eventually beleaguered in a world dominated by Communism.

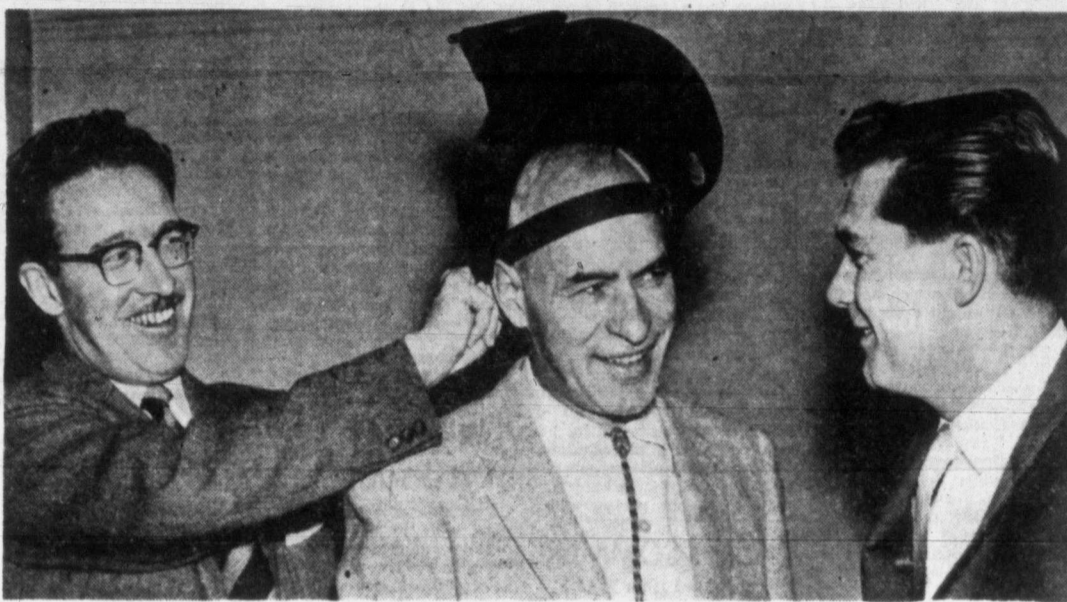

Eisenhower called the aid plan a deterrent to general nuclear war and added: "For the safety of our families, for the future of our children and our continued existence as a nation, we cannot afford to slacken our support of the mutual security program."

The strong appeal went to Congress against the background of an already-intense drive by some members to make sharp cuts in the program, particularly the economic aid phase.

Eisenhower asked for $2,635,000,000 for military aid and related defence support. The balance — $1,307,000,000 — is mainly for economic aid.

In pressing once more for economic assistance for newly-independent countries, he said the Communist bloc is trying to lure the new countries with offers of such help.

Eisenhower last year asked Congress for just a shade under $4,000,000,000 in funds, as he did today for the new program. Last year only $2,800,000,000 was appropriated.

FITTING 'HAT' FOR OCCASION

Unofficial badge of office, a welder's helmet, was donned today by past president George Wilkinson, Vancouver, in preparation for the fourth annual convention of the Pipe Line Contractors' Association of Canada at the Empress Hotel. More than 350 contractors have registered for the convention which starts Thursday. Flanking Mr. Wilkinson are president Ron Banister, left, and executive secretary A. O. Ackroyd, both of Edmonton. Main drawing card will be Gen. James H. Doolittle, Shell Oil Co., who speaks Saturday on "Oil and Nuclear Fission—A Forward Look." (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

GRIP IN U.S.;
TOLL AT 209

NEW YORK (CP)—The season's coldest and stormiest weather in the eastern half of the United States appeared easing in some sections today, but the overall picture was not bright.

Business and industry, dealt staggering blows by the violent weather, worked to restore operations to normal. There were still isolated rural villages, marooned farmers, fuel and food shortages after the worst snowstorm in years in many places. Transportation was hard hit.

The economic loss is expected to run into millions of dollars. The latest count of deaths attributed to the stormy-cold weather reached 209 in areas from the east to Missouri and Iowa and from Maine to Alabama.

Martin Spoke 'Half-Truths'
Says Alderman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ald. George Miller claimed Tuesday that provincial Health Minister Eric Martin spoke only half-truths when he said Vancouver gets the highest per capita provincial aid of any Canadian city.

Mr. Miller is deputy chairman of the city's administration board and city council's financial expert.

He said the city did not get anything like the amount taken from it in provincial taxes.

"We get nothing like our fair share of the five-per-cent sales tax and we get a mere pittance from the gasoline tax which is supposed to be for building our highways," said Mr. Miller.

He said other B.C. cities get higher per capita grants and the government pays for highways through other municipalities.

Turncoat Engineered
Plane Hijacking Plot

By CHARLES SMITH
SEOUL (UP)—South Korean Home Minister Lee Keun Jik said today Kim Kyung, a one-time turncoat from the North Korean army engineered the international hijacking of a South Korean airliner with 34 persons aboard.

The North Korean Red Cross has ignored a plea by the International Red Cross to help return any of the passengers taken to North Korea against their will, including two Americans and two Germans.

Mrs. Willis Hobbs, wife of the plane's American pilot, flew from Hong Kong to Korea with her two small children today in hopes her husband would be released.

Home Minister Lee said a police investigation indicated seven persons aboard the Korean National Airlines DC-3

24 Sailors Swept to Death
As Raging Sea Upsets Boat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Twenty-seven sailors who had abandoned the sinking Italian freighter Bonitas were pitched into the stormy Atlantic Tuesday night when their lifeboat capsized as a rescue ship tried to pluck them to safety.

Three were saved and 24 were swept away by 20-foot seas. Throughout the night, the American liner President Adams, three navy destroyer escorts and the French steamship Cavalliere searched vainly for the missing men in poor visibility.

The stricken freighter's crew abandoned ship in one lifeboat shortly before 6 p.m., several hours after the ship had sent an SOS from her position 120 miles east of Cape Lookout, N.C.

HIGH SEAS, GALE

The President Adams reached the Bonitas about 8 p.m. but informed the Coast Guard in Norfolk that she had trouble getting to the lifeboat because of "high seas, blinding snowstorm and gale winds."

The "Bonitas" crew tried to bring their lifeboat alongside the liner, but the heavy seas and the roll of the ship caused the boat to capsize.

"Rescued two men from over Adams, stern and launched Adams boat in attempt to rescue men in water," said the liner's message to the Coast Guard.

"Picked up one additional survivor, but due darkness and snow storm men drifted away."

The liner reported the Bonitas, which carried a cargo of manganese, still afloat "but down by the head, with Nos. 1 and 2 holds flooded." The message said it might be possible to tow the Bonitas to port if the ship remained afloat and the weather moderated during the day.

The rescued trio were identified as the Bonitas' skipper, Capt. Ienazin Marini, a deckboy and a fireman.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A lesson in the gentle art of wheedling (which most wives practice on their husbands) was given in the House Tuesday by the evergreen Tom Uphill, who has represented the coal mining area of Fernie for 38 years.

A lone campaigner, a one-man Labor party, Tom is too wise a bird to attack a majority government when he wants something done for his constituents.

So, in preparing the way for a plaintive appeal on behalf of the unemployed miners of Fernie, he began by referring to "dear old friends" on the government side and said he was sorry Premier Bennett was out of the House as he wanted to put in "a good word" for him.

This had the desired effect of making everyone wonder what this "good word" could be.

"It's really too bad he isn't here," said Tom sadly, doubtless hoping this would make the premier wish he had been.

Then, turning his friendly full-moon face towards the empty chair vacated by Health Minister Eric Martin, he said: "I wanted to give him a boost, too... he did me a very good turn once and I never forget a good turn."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner returned to his seat at that moment and wily Mr. Uphill practised a similar technique on him, wrapping up his bouquet with a reference to what the great British statesman, Lloyd George, would have done in the circumstances.

The Fernie member then cajoled the government by telling how B.C. Liberal Premier John Oliver had given $2,000 to Fernie in a similar crisis many years ago, and said he wished his dear friend Highways Minister Gagliardi could have been in the House.

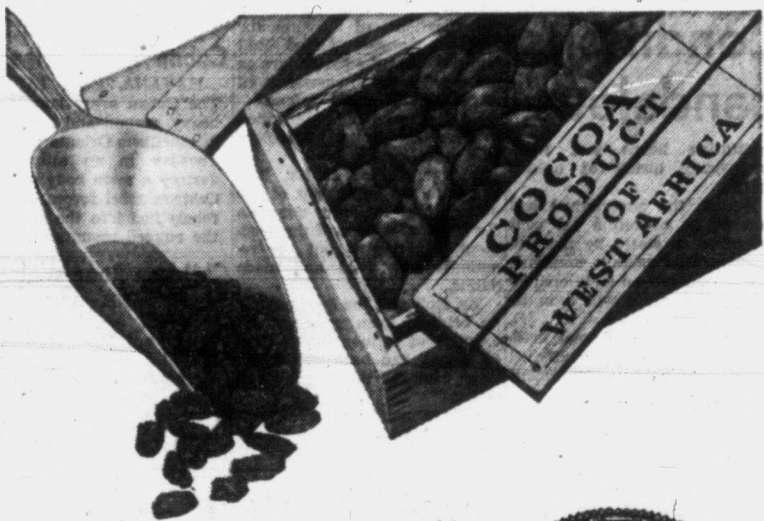

Lo and behold, Mr. Gagliardi materialized a minute or so later. Mr. Uphill worked on him so successfully that the minister promised to do all he could and said: "Come over to my office and we'll see if we can figure out something."

An unexpected admirer of Tom Uphill is Eric Charman, president of Victoria Progressive Conservative Association.

Impaired Drivers Get 21-Day Terms

Two men were given 21-day jail terms when they pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to second offence charges of impaired driving.

The Conservatives, he said, made a wrong diagnosis of the situation. They thought the economy would brighten after a brief decline.

Instead, things worsened. Money and "political tranquillizers" were running out so the Conservatives called an election to avoid a national accounting.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker countered with the promise that he and his Progressive Conservative government will do "everything that can be done" to see that no Canadians suffer from unemployment.

The $1,850,000,000 works program he announced in Ottawa Tuesday was "to ensure development of our country and to provide, as well, help to Canadians, work to Canadians and an opportunity for the better things of life." (See page 27.)

He renewed his attempts to discount the Liberal party's major campaign pledge to counter unemployment—the promise of $400,000,000 in tax cuts.

TAX CUTS NOT NEEDED
The whole essence of the former Liberal government's policy, he said, was that tax cuts were unnecessary. The Liberals last year had described Conservative tax-cut demands as irresponsible.

It was a Conservative government last fall which acted immediately to cut taxes by $178,000,000 a year.

Mr. Diefenbaker quoted Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson as having said the Conservative government shouldn't be blamed for the unemployment situation.

At Minnedosa, Man., Social Credit leader Solon Low Tuesday night also outlined a program to help relieve Canada's unemployment problem, predicting the total number of unemployed will reach 600,000 by March 15.

Mr. Low said the problem should be met by:
Reduced income and sales taxes.

A huge public works program on a national—not regional—scale.
Immediate bonus or dividend payments to old age pensioners, the blind and needy families.

QUICK RESULTS
Mr. Low said the bonus payments would have an immediate result. Persons receiving them would spend money at home and revive local business.

The reduced taxes and public works program would be long-range plans designed to keep business active and reduce surpluses.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, continuing to campaign in his constituency of Rosemont-Biggar, proposed a federal subsidy to ensure reasonable salaries of railway workers.

MISSING CITY MAN SHOWS UP AT CLINIC

Amnesia victim Arthur Yurkowski, 36, 695 Craigflower, showed up Tuesday afternoon at Crease Clinic, where he went on advice of relatives he visited at Chilliwack.

He telephoned his wife at about 2.45 p.m. to say that he was safe after going missing at noon Monday from what was an otherwise normal day of sales and deliveries.

Last June he was gone for a week, finally showing up at Calgary General Hospital where he recovered his memory, unable to explain how he got there.

Woman Loses Appeal Against Estate Terms

The appeal of a Nanaimo widow for a greater share in her late husband's estate was dismissed by the B.C. Appeal Court in Victoria late Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran gave judgment at 5.15 p.m. after a two-day hearing.
Emily Amelia Bearce appealed the terms of the will of Irving Asa Bearce, former manager of a lumber company, who died at Nanaimo, Nov. 12, 1953.

Mr. Bearce, formerly of 533 Arbutus, Nanaimo, willed $20,000 to his widow and the balance of his estate to two daughters by a previous marriage.

T. G. Norris, QC, for Mrs. Bearce, argued under terms of the Testators' Family Maintenance Act that the will did not sufficiently provide for her. At one point in this argument, Mr. Justice O'Halloran observed that the widow of a successful man could not always expect

Juvenile Prowlers Surrender

A number of boys aged 14-16 years were to be referred to juvenile authorities after they turned themselves in to Oak Bay police in connection with a house prowling Tuesday night.

Neighbors of the huge old house on Harling Point near the Chinese cemetery told police they saw the light of torches inside the house.

When police arrived they saw one boy running over nearby rocks. The others had gone, but they left three bicycles behind, which police picked up.

The house has suffered from vandalism since it was vacated recently. Police noted also a door to the Chinese cemetery bone storage house was open, "but the interior was in no more than the usual state of disorder."

'Forbidden Zone' French Proposal

PARIS (Reuters)—The French cabinet decided today to create a forbidden zone along the entire frontier between Tunisia and Algeria, in which no one will be allowed to live or travel.

A government spokesman announced the cabinet decision but declined to give details on how the ban would be applied.

He said France would reject Tunisia's call for the Bizerte naval base to be turned over to NATO or leased to any other party but the French. "Bizerte will remain the French port it is," he said.

The United Nations Security Council Tuesday adjourned its debate on Tunisia's complaint and France's countering protest that Algerian rebels received aid from Tunisia.

It was agreed to adjourn so that the United States and Britain could use their good offices in the dispute.

Money Went in Three Lots Between Dec. 1953, May 1954—Eversfield

By JOHN MIKA, Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — Some $4,500 was sent to Robert Sommers between December, 1953, and May, 1954, by Charles Eversfield, former bookkeeper for Pacific Coast Services Ltd.

The money was sent in three lots, it was shown Tuesday as the prosecution's chief witness in the conspiracy and bribery preliminary hearing completed his first day on the witness stand.

Charged are Mr. Sommers, former lands and forests minister now sitting in the legislature as MLA for Rossland-Trail, P.C.S., Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., B.C. Forest Products Ltd., C. D. Schultz Ltd., Charles D. Schultz, John M. and H. Wilson Gray.

Mr. Eversfield identified some 70 exhibits, including photo stats and some PCS records that he took with him when he quit the firm in 1955. Immediate explanations of the exhibits were given in only a few cases.

He was to identify about 30 more documents today before he tells us what he knows about all of them," prosecutor Stewart McMorran said.

Mr. Eversfield testified that W. H. Gray of PCS, signed a cheque in his presence made out to "T. T. Victoria" (telegraphic transfer) for $2,500 Dec. 1, 1953.

The money "was sent to R. E. Sommers in Victoria," he said later when explaining a $13 charge to PCS for a telegraphic transfer.

Mr. Eversfield said $1,000 was placed in a registered letter mailed out on instructions of H. W. Gray Feb. 5, 1954. He identified a post office registration certificate No. 16720 as covering the letter.

Numerous objections were made by the defence to entry of many of the documents as exhibits but Magistrate Oscar Orr overruled the objections.

Included in the exhibits was a photostat of a sheet of paper headed "fees to date—$26,000." It contained four columns of figures with a final entry— "received $38,088, $10,258, $26,327, $1,502."

"This photostat is a paper produced to me by H. W. Gray," Mr. Eversfield said. "I was to make a statement reconciling the figures on the paper. Mr. Gray's handwriting is on the bottom."

Another document dated Oct. 25, 1954, showed four columns of figures with the headings "Total, Cds, Hwgs, Other."

Mr. Eversfield, during the course of four hours, identified scores of cheques, cheque counterfoils, expense vouchers, hotel bills, airline bills, invoices and photostatic copies of undated lists of figures.

Top Legal Minds In Tense Arena

By STAFF REPORTER

VANCOUVER—Some of the most adept legal minds on the West Coast are bunched together at three document-strewn tables in "A" court at the city police station here.

Virtually rubbing shoulders, eight defence lawyers and the city prosecutor are drawing on years of experience with the intricacies of the law in a legal "spectacular" that has drawn overflowing crowds daily to the preliminary hearing of the bribery and conspiracy charges against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other men and four companies.

Above the tense arena sits outspoken Magistrate Oscar Orr, himself the owner of a distinguished career at the bar before he was elevated to the bench as police magistrate.

Now 65, with a deep scar on his forehead resulting from a battle wound at Ypres, in the First World War, Magistrate Orr was chief prosecutor for Canada at the war crimes trials in Japan following the end of the Second World War.

His 21 years with the city prosecutor's office in Vancouver were interrupted by the Second World War when he served as assistant judge advocate general for the Pacific Military District with the army rank of major.

Before that he served as assistant city prosecutor from 1921 to 1931, followed by a decade as city prosecutor. He returned to this post in 1947 when he left Japan.

The following year he was appointed assistant police magistrate and in 1953 assumed his present post.

Now in his fifth year as city prosecutor, 38-year-old Stewart McMorran is engaged in the most important case of his career.

A graduate of the University of British Columbia, he was called to the bar in 1946 and one year later was appointed as assistant to the then city prosecutor, Orr.

On the other side of the prosecutor's table sits veteran court specialist Alfred Bull, QC, counsel for Charles D. Schultz and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

He has attained a widely recognized status as a brilliant trial expert since he began practicing in 1909. Mr. Bull joined the firm of Sir Charles Tupper in 1915 and has been with it since, rising to senior partner.

A past president of the Vancouver Bar Association, Mr. Bull has appeared in every court of the land, from police court to the Supreme Court of Canada. Before it was abandoned as the ultimate court of Canadian appeals, he appeared before the Privy Council in Great Britain.

He is assisted by H. R. Bowring.

For Sommers

Chief counsel for Mr. Sommers is Angelo E. Branca, QC. Now 55, he was born at Mount Sicker on Vancouver Island and at one time was amateur middle-weight boxing champion of B.C.

A former Vancouver parks commissioner, he was called to the bar in 1926 at the age of 23. In 1955 his name hit newspaper headlines when he was removed from a courtroom by RCMP officers after a heated argument with Mr. Justice Manson during a trial.

3 HOUSE HEARS AGRICULTURE REPORT

Appropriations Hike Urged

Recommendation that 1958-59 appropriations of the department of agriculture be increased to meet farming industry needs has been made by the legislative agriculture committee.

The seven-point report, read to the House Tuesday, is based on a brief submitted to the committee by the advisory board of farmers' institutes.

It is unlikely to be accepted by the government. The report also recommends that the B.C. Power Commission be given more scope, and that a review be made of present methods of taxation for school purposes to find a more equitable system.

ESQUIMALT-SANICHO NOMINATING CONVENTION

PUBLIC INVITED

Why He Loves the Press

IN A RATHER HALF-HEARTED intervention in the national election Mr. Bennett chooses the press of British Columbia as his main target. He quickly adds, however, that he loves the press and that the press should have the "intestinal fortitude" to endure criticism as he has often to endure it.

Mr. Bennett need not worry about the press on that score. It was used to criticism long before he appeared on the scene and will be receiving it long after he has disappeared. The press always has been, always will be and certainly should be a target of criticism since, by the nature of its business, it is the chief forum of public controversy. If it were not, the press would lose its usefulness.

It is only fair to say that Mr. Bennett, an old hand in public controversy, usually makes a distinction between the editorial and the news columns of the press. He knows that the editorial columns belong to the newspaper, which says there what it pleases as its own opinions; that the news columns belong to the public and are obligated to report the news without comment or opinions.

Yet sometimes Mr. Bennett confuses these two separate functions. He seems at the moment to feel that because many newspapers are critical of his policies in their editorial columns they also color their news columns against him.

Undoubtedly, from time to time, newspapers make errors. In almost all cases, however, these are errors of haste in a complicated process which must be condensed into a few hours, or minutes. Those cases are very few and are corrected immediately by the injured party.

By and large the truth is that Mr. Bennett has received from the news columns of the British Columbia press the most comprehensive and accurate treatment. We doubt, indeed, that any provincial politician in the history of Canada has ever commanded so much newspaper space as he has commanded, and still commands, from all the daily newspapers of this province. He is what the newspapers call "good copy."

He can speak as he pleases, at any hour of the day or night, to the whole people of British Columbia through the press. It will report anything and everything he chooses to say, even if the newspapers regard it as inaccurate or false. They report him in the news columns without any attempt to deny his frequent inaccuracies and often his absurdities. If these are criticized the criticism is confined to the editorial pages or signed columns of opinion which the public can read or not, as it desires.

But we question whether any criticism can keep up with Mr. Bennett's skillful propaganda. An unequalled master of this art, Mr. Bennett uses the press every day by giving out so-called news stories that, in fact, are nothing but free Social Credit advertising. He plays the news columns like an organ.

The press would not publish much of this material if it came from anyone but a responsible public servant. In the Premier's case the press feels and should feel an obligation to publish all his statements because they come from the leader of the government and the public is entitled to hear exactly what he says, right or wrong.

Mr. Bennett assuredly has a right to quarrel and argue with the opinions of the press in their editorial columns.

We do not think he has any right to quarrel with their news columns which, with infrequent lapses of inaccuracy, have given him fair and complete coverage. And what he says in the news columns is at least a hundred times larger in volume and much more widely read than any editorial criticism of him.

No wonder Mr. Bennett loves the press. He knows how to use it.

The Nation's Loss

CANADIANS OF ALL PARTIES will be very sorry to learn that Mr. Louis Stephen St. Laurent has retired from politics and will not be a candidate in the coming election.

Had he accepted nomination, his return to Parliament from Quebec East—an invulnerable Liberal seat—would have been assured.

His retirement is a distinct loss to this country. But after the service he has given to Parliament, to Canada, and, indeed, to the free world which appreciates his position as an architect of NATO, he is entitled to rest from the exacting duties of public life. Canadians will hope he may find happiness and enjoyment in the years ahead of him.

In these times it is doubtful if the accomplishments of Mr. St. Laurent can be fully recognized. It remains for history to make the final assessment.

No one, however, will question his great contribution to this nation and this age—a contribution marked at all times by a delicate and shining honor.

His abilities, character and service have been appreciated by his successor, Mr. Diefenbaker. The Prime Minister spoke for the nation in the simple and honest tribute, "He served Canada well."

It is to be hoped that Mr. Diefenbaker's words will help free some of his more partisan followers from a certain bitterness they have displayed locally toward a great Canadian.

Manoeuvring for What?

AS IN EARLIER DISCUSSIONS of disarmament, East and West have reached what President Eisenhower calls an "impasse" in trying to arrange a conference on world problems at the summit.

Russia's Premier Bulganin has specified that any such conference must deal with a list of ten subjects which he proposes. The eight topics which President Eisenhower suggested are, says the Soviet leader, to be adopted only if unanimously agreed upon by the conference.

In other words the Soviet topics would be obligatory, the American topics subject to Russian veto.

Such an arrangement naturally is not acceptable to the United States. Further insistence by Moscow on such a one-sided agenda will make it obvious that Soviet demands for a summit parley are for propaganda value only, and not made with any sincere intent to discuss and settle world problems.

Yank at Oxford

WHEREVER ENGLISH IS spoken and wherever those using it understand their debt to great institutions of learning, the decision of the American Ford Foundation to provide $1,000,000 for the restoration of the historic buildings of Oxford will be applauded.

This grant, unique in as much as the Ford Foundation allocates funds usually to assist the development of new projects, will meet one fifth of the costs of restoration planned for the great university town.

preciation for the contribution Oxford has made and continues to make to the world.

The complete project will take upwards of 10 years. When it is finished the magnificent buildings of Christopher Wren will have regained some of their early beauty. Fine carvings, dingy now under the layers of heavy varnish, will have reclaimed their earlier brightness and attractiveness. Old masonry will be made safe and a shrine of learning will become even more attractive to those people throughout the world who make pilgrimages to it.

'LIVE WITH THEM, SO WE HUMOR THEM'

Wives Amazingly Tolerant With Bushy Collar-Dusters

By DINAH KERR
Don't look now, but that man with the weird beard could be your husband.
And chances are there's a silly grin behind his stubble. For years he has been secretly aware that a beard would add the piece de resistance to his general appeal.

He has never confided this to his wife, who loves him for the solid citizen he is. It would be cruel to even let her suspect that he could be transformed into a swaggering cavalier who causes mothers to pull their daughters off the streets when he passes by.

So he pretends he entered a Centennial beard-growing contest to be "one of the boys." Why spoil his wife's summer? She has a right to celebrate B.C.'s centenary too.

He doesn't fool anyone with his self-conscious laughter. This man knows he is growing a winner. His beard will not be the funniest or the most original. But it will be the most handsome.

Locally, he has entered one of four contests. Beard backers here are the Junior Chamber of Commerce with 150 entries to date; the B.C. Government Employees' Association, and four horsemen clubs with more than 100 entries each, and Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros. Ltd. with 25.

Riders in the Garden City Horsemen's Club, Victoria Riding Academy and Hunt Club, Victoria Western Horsemen and Colwood Trail Riders are nourishing beards for a grand send-off of a six-horse stage on the Victoria to Barkerville run May 8.

Employees of the construction firm are just having fun. They shaved for the last time Monday and will compete for prizes on Victoria Day, May 19.

TOLERANT WIVES
Wives of the big bearded boys are surprisingly tolerant.

They don't come right out and say they detest beards; as any woman in her right mind would. They married the men they have to live with them so they humor them.

Even Mrs. Bob Owens, whose dark-thatched husband is fondling a half-inch bright red beard, has a kind word to say.

"I don't like beards much," she confessed, "but if every one's doing it, it's okay. Really, it's quite funny."

Mrs. Fred Warman's husband is among the 25 who shaved their razors to the back of the drawer Monday.

DIDN'T LOOK
She did let slip, however, that she hadn't looked at her husband this morning.

Mrs. Larry Brule got a full face, before-breakfast view of her other half, but she recoiled gracefully.

"I think it's okay," she said, "alright for fun."

Two wives actually like the collar-dusters.

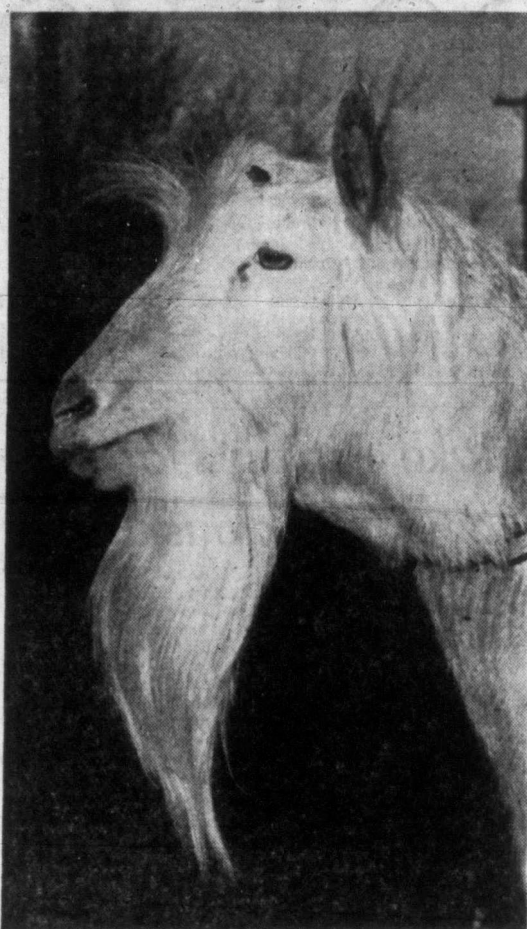

"It should look quite good," said Mrs. Kenneth Kidd, whose husband is a government employee.

Mrs. Don McHardie has convinced herself that it improves her Jaycee husband's appearance.

"He's quite a heavy man," she explained, "and it makes him look thinner."

But Mrs. George McGee, wife of the well-known rider, broke the most typical reaction.

"It's pretty bad," she said, "but I'm getting used to it."

WARMEST FEB. 18 ON RECORD AS TEMPERATURE HITS 57.1

A minor weather record was set here Tuesday when the temperature reached 57.1 degrees, highest ever recorded for Feb. 18.

Weatherman William Mackie said that the mean temperature for the month to date is 45 1/2 degrees, or a bit more than five degrees above the normal mean for February.

Present mild weather will continue tonight and Thursday, Mr. Mackie said, with cloudy skies and a few "light sprinkles" of rain. Temperature will range between 45 and 52 degrees, and winds will be easterly at 15 miles per hour.

Second Burglary At Food Market

Burglars active in the Victoria area today posed problems for police with:

The second break-in over a four-day period into a Saanich food market.

Mysterious return, by mail, of a portion of loot from a Victoria antique dealer, taken last Friday.

Eng's Foodliner, 3475 Quadra, was burglarized for the second time in four days overnight.

A front door was forced and about $300 worth of cigarettes stolen.

And about $270 worth of art objects, medals, decorations and coins, part of $556 worth stolen last Friday night from the Captain's Antique Shop, 1031 Fort, were mailed back in two parcels Tuesday.

The previous robbery at the Foodliner took place early Saturday when thieves entered a skylight, broke through a false ceiling, and took $100 in silver from a cash box.

In today's break-in, burglars caused extensive damage to a glass and steel door which they broke and forced open with a crowbar or other heavy tool.

Police were alerted at about 4 a.m., when city police were asked to set up a roadblock at Quadra and Tolmie.

At 4:10 a.m. Saanich police reported finding some cigarettes and a display rack in a vacant lot beside Shillingford's Store, 3453 Quadra.

The parcels returned to the antique shop have not so far been traced by police or post-office officials.

The items were taken while Capt. L. J. M. Gauvreau, proprietor, attended a numismatic meeting.

In the packages were a $75 silver, gold and enameled KCMG decoration with case; a $95 mounted Madonna and Child statue; $50 in 1954 Canadian coins; half of a tray full of 30 Canadian silver dollars (1958); other coins and plastic coin holders valued at $75, and a four-stamp block of 1884 Victoria dark stamps worth $17.50.

Still missing are about $270 worth of Canadian, Newfoundland and foreign coins, miscellaneous coins and two bronze centenary medals in plastic holders.

TRAFFIC FINES
In city police court today: Wesley Lario Humphrey, 1919 Colville, $25 for driving without a licence.

William Leonard Smith, 600 Atkins, $50 for driving while under suspension.

Bruce Douglas McIntyre, 2854 Inlet, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction and $15 for speeding over 30.

Bryan Norman Erb, 664 Kenneth, $20 for speeding over 30.

George A. Nash, Work Point, $35 for careless driving, $25 for failing to submit accident reports and $25 for driving without a licence.

Roy C. Heaton, 180 Olive, $35 and restricted to driving his wife to and from hospital for 30 days, for careless driving.

Three Seeking Liberal Banner

Fairey, Nelles To Oppose Ellis

A three-way contest for Victoria Liberal candidacy in the forthcoming federal election was assured today. Saanich Councillor Charles Nelles said he would permit his name to stand at the party nominating convention Friday night.

Oak Bay Councillor Geoffrey Ellis said Tuesday he would stand for the candidacy.

Earlier, former Liberal MP for Victoria, Dr. F. T. Fairey, said if the party wanted him, he would allow his name to go before the nominating convention.

At the time it appeared an International Labor Office (ILO) posting to Korea might mean Dr. Fairey would have to stand in absentia.

He said today, however, the posting has been indefinitely postponed and he would not be called to the Far East prior to the March 31 election.

FRIDAY NIGHT
"My name, I think, will be before the nominating convention."

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Liberal headquarters, 1322 Government.

Dr. Fairey expressed pleasure at the decision of the "younger men" to seek the Liberal candidacy and described both as "fine men."

Coun. Nelles, 41, is the son of the late Admiral Percy W. Nelles, wartime chief of naval staff. His election to Saanich council last December was his first excursion into political life. He is a city wholesaler.

"I see this election as a straight fight between forward looking Liberalism and outright reaction," said Coun. Nelles.

City alderman Hugh Ramsay has also been mentioned as a possible nominee for the Liberal candidacy, but he said today he definitely would be unable to accept.

The nominating convention Friday night will complete the election candidacy picture for Victoria.

The Conservatives have nominated A. DeB. McPhillips, who was elected in the last federal election. The Social Credit has named Victoria Alderman E. D. McEwen, and the Victoria CCF has named Victor Williams as its standard bearer.

Yarrows Bid Wins Contract To Build Hull

Yarrows Ltd. will be given a contract to build the hull of a department of transport buoy tender and supply vessel, according to Canadian Press reports of a speech in Kingston Tuesday by Transport Minister George Hees.

Officials of the firm here said they had received no contract as yet, and that they believed low tender on the vessel had been submitted by Burrard Dry Dock, Vancouver.

Mr. Hees is reported as saying the hull would be built by Yarrows, and the fitting out done by Burrard Dry Dock.

Total cost of the vessel, which would be suitable for search and rescue work, is estimated at $3,000,000.

It is part of a $12,300,000 government shipbuilding program recently announced at Ottawa.

Record Demand
Demand for tickets for this weekend's pair of Victoria Symphony Orchestra "pops" concerts has risen to an unprecedented high.

The concerts, at which Swiss pianist, Boris Roubakine is to perform the Schumann Piano Concerto, promise to be double sellouts.

Two statements made here Monday night by the Hon. Davie Fulton puzzle me.

One was his flat assertion that the "proper figure" for unemployment in Canada today was 386,000.

A few hours later his own government announced from Ottawa that the "hard total" was 520,000 out of work and actively seeking jobs.

In other words, the minister erred by something more than 25 per cent on the conservative—write that small or large "C"—side.

The second statement I found baffling was his quote: "By knowledge, experience, background and training, Bert McPhillips is the best man Victorians could elect to represent them."

Perhaps my old friend Davie may be excused for this excess of enthusiasm on filial grounds, since McPhillips is his cousin.

But let's suppose he actually believes what he said. On what is this lavish opinion based?

There are two simple tests a voter may indulge when he steps into the polling booth: (1) What service has the candidate rendered to his community? and (2) what service is his record in the House, as revealed by Hansard?

I submit that on both these counts McPhillips strikes out.

If Bert has ever served on the board of any major community enterprise, it has escaped my notice. What has he done for the Community

TAG-EATING BURRO HEADED FOR COLWOOD?

A Colwood man fears that a burro stranded in Wenatchee, Wash., because it ate its shipping tags, might possibly have been assigned to him.

George Hooper, 2465 Sooke Road, has been expecting his sister in California to send him one of the little grey donkeys, and has sent her a telegram asking to be brought up to date on "Operation Burro."

Railroad officials in Wenatchee are fairly certain the burro they have among the "lost and found" items at their express office was consigned to Wenatchee, and are waiting for a claim to be made.

City Frigate First to Aid Of Drifting Tug

The Pacific Command frigate HMCS Sussex was the first to reach the scene Tuesday night when a U.S. Navy tug wireless that her tow was out of control in heavy seas near Swiftsure lighthouse, and nine ships raced to her aid.

Included were two Island Tug and Barge towboats, S. Sudbury and Island Navigator.

The tug Yuma, classed as a fleet ocean tug, was towing the mothballed helicopter carrier Tinian from Seattle bound for San Diego when the weather built up and the tow lost headway.

At 4 p.m. tug and tow were drifting helplessly in the teeth of 60 mile per hour winds. But the crisis passed by 10 p.m., when the two ships proceeded to the sheltered waters of Neah Bay.

Today tug and tow passed through Juan de Fuca Strait, bound back to Seattle to await better weather conditions.

$10,000 Bail For Suspect In Duncan Case

Francis Marion Grandstaff, charged in police court at Duncan today with unlawfully entering a private dwelling, was remanded to Friday and released on $10,000 bail.

Charge arose out of an alleged offence at the home of Ernest Emerson, on the Trans-Canada Highway three miles south of Duncan, Tuesday at 2 p.m.

IT'S 'SCENT-SATIONAL'

Whiff of Lavender New Tourist Bait?

A proposal is being studied by the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group to give Victoria a "lavender fragrance."

It is all part of a design to impress visitors that the city is not only radiantly beautiful but "sweet scented."

Purple lavender is one of the most successful sweet-smelling plants grown on Southern Vancouver Island.

The proposal by "welcome wagon" hostess Avis Walton, calls for the giving away of lavender sprigs, corsages and bottled "lavender air" to visitors on planes, boats and buses.

In addition, it has been suggested that a machine be used to fill the air with lavender spray as visitors come off CPR boats and TCA planes.

"Give the visitors a whiff of lavender as they enter the city," explained Mrs. Walton, "and they will never forget Victoria."

Mrs. Walton's proposal won the approval of the majority of members of the tourist group.

"A pleasant smell is seductive," said one member. "It's one of man's six senses which hasn't yet been exploited by the tourist industry."

But one motel keeper pointed out that the Orientals have long ago exploited scent to attract people. They used sweet smelling plants to entice visitors to holy shrines, he said.

Mrs. Walton, who has given thousands of sprigs of lavender to visitors, said the sweet-smelling plant works wonders.

"They want to know all about lavender," she said, "and how it is grown. It's a good tourist gimmick."

Vancouver Island, she said, grows some of the world's best lavender.

But let's suppose he actually believes what he said. On what is this lavish opinion based?

There are two simple tests a voter may indulge when he steps into the polling booth: (1) What service has the candidate rendered to his community? and (2) what service is his record in the House, as revealed by Hansard?

conservative—write that small or large "C"—side.

The second statement I found baffling was his quote: "By knowledge, experience, background and training, Bert McPhillips is the best man Victorians could elect to represent them."

Perhaps my old friend Davie may be excused for this excess of enthusiasm on filial grounds, since McPhillips is his cousin.

But let's suppose he actually believes what he said. On what is this lavish opinion based?

There are two simple tests a voter may indulge when he steps into the polling booth: (1) What service has the candidate rendered to his community? and (2) what service is his record in the House, as revealed by Hansard?

I submit that on both these counts McPhillips strikes out.

If Bert has ever served on the board of any major community enterprise, it has escaped my notice. What has he done for the Community

MONTE ROBERTS

The time for great inventions is during the misty moments just before dawn.

Of this I am sure, for as recently as this very morning, I produced a great invention, and the moment was certainly misty, also before dawn.

It had been one of those nights. You know the kind. Can't go to sleep. Toss and turn until ninety-nine o'clock. When you finally do get to sleep, you're awake seconds later, waiting tensely for the alarm to go off. Too late to go back to sleep. Too early to get up.

So what do you do? You think, that's what you do. And what do you think about?

If you are me, you think about why in the name of Morpheus you can't get a good night's sleep.

And in the course of MY thinking this morning, I stumbled upon my great invention.

Instant Condensed Sleep.

Do you grasp the implications? Packaged sleep, prepared as the soups are; one one-hour package contains enough condensed sleep to serve eight. Eight hours, that is.

Instant sleep, packaged the way the coffees are. Just add water and voila! You have sleep, instantly.

Think what a boon instant condensed sleep would be to the busy executive.

Instead of wasting hours and hours in bed, either sleeping or trying to sleep, he would simply open a one-hour tin of Instant Condensed Sleep and, in one hour, get eight hours sleep.

Yes, the time for great inventions is during the misty moments before dawn, while waiting for the alarm clock. That's when my great invention, Instant Condensed Sleep, came to me.

I even worked out the practical details of how to prepare Instant Condensed Sleep.

The only trouble is, I went back to sleep and, when the alarm clock rang, do you think I could remember the practical details?

Ah, well, there are always the misty moments of tomorrow morning.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City council called off a special meeting to introduce its fire hall site bylaw Tuesday and reset it for 5 p.m. tonight.

An informal meeting held in the mayor's office discussed possible technical difficulties in the purchase of land and buildings at the Yates-Camosun-Johnson Street site for $90,400.

Several weeks delay is expected before a start can be made on Victoria's $82,000 garbage wharf project. First phase in a $240,000 renovation of existing facilities was approved by city council last week, but approval of the work must be obtained from the federal government. Federal authorities control the harbor and had earlier classed the run-down incinerator and wharf as an "unlawful structure."

Keith Starling, 1660 Island Highway, told Esquimalt police early today he had picked up a sailor heading for HMCS Naden and drove him to Admirals Road where the car was taken away from him.

Police recovered the auto at 6:30 a.m. parked in the 1100 block of Lockley.

Monthly meeting of the Welsh Society will be held in the Business and Professional Women's Club, 904 Government, Friday at 8 p.m.

The League of Roses (Lancashire and Yorkshire) will meet in the club rooms, 904 Government, on Thursday at 8 p.m. There will be games and refreshments.

A meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Monterey Restaurant at 6:30 tonight.

J. K. Watson was elected president of the Vancouver Island Philatelist Society at an annual meeting held at the Empress Hotel recently.

Other officers elected were: J. K. Hodges, honorary president; Mrs. Paul Henderson, secretary; Morley T. Davies, treasurer; Victor Bigwood, A. Mourant, W. A. Teare, Mrs. V. Molesworth, Miss Jean Roberts, Miss Jessie Gordon and E. L. Fielding, directors.

An outdoor clinic for movie fans will be held by the Victoria, B.C. Amateur Movie Club at Beacon Hill Park at 2 p.m., March 2. Members will meet at the handstand and will show anyone how to use their movie cameras. They will also answer any questions pertaining to movie making.

Harry Sills has been elected president of the Canadian National Railways Veterans' Association. R. A. J. Lewis was elected vice-president and F. Rasmussen secretary-treasurer.

A Chinese resident of 576 Johnson complained to police Tuesday afternoon he was in his room when two women, one about 16 with thick eyeglasses and wearing a long black coat—the other about 47 wearing a red coat, walked in and asked for a cigarette.

He said he told them he had none, whereupon they grabbed his wallet, containing $7, and left the room.

Winners Tuesday in the "open pairs" championships, staged by Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club, were Tony Marsh and Les Stewart, Ethel Cleworth and Bill Simpson-Baile, Fred Hallett and John Allan, Mr. and Mrs. W. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duprau, Elizabeth Warren and Lil Tattersall, Jim Duprau and Eric Goodwin, Molly Abell and Elsie Edmonds.

Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion will meet at the Legion Hall tonight at 8.

Leonard Henry Charles, 1120 Caledonia, was fined $50 or 15 days in jail when he appeared in city police court today charged with theft of two sleeping bags worth $35 from Oscar Hansen, of the same address.

Police said the sleeping bags were stored in the basement of the Caledonia street house prior to the theft.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have a Canadian five-cent piece marked 1751-1951. Has it any significance or value? C.M.D.

A. There were about 8,000,000 of these minted by the Canadian government in 1951 to commemorate the isolation of nickel. They are worth five cents only. Few are in circulation.

Q. Can you please inform me if a New Brunswick one cent, 1864, piece has any collector's value? J.H.

A. It's worth 10 cents, if in good condition.

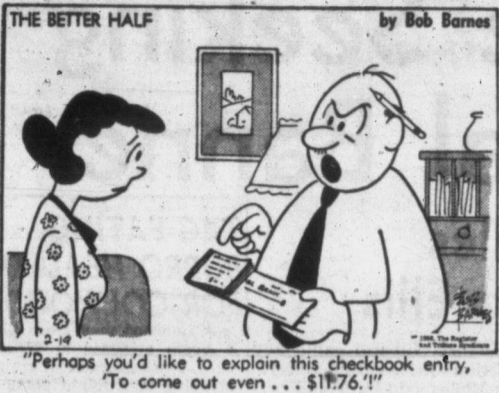

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

"WIDOWHOOD"

The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the seventh in a series of articles frankly written to be of service to the four out of five widows who will someday also face widowhood.

CHAPTER 7

Ironically, the myriad details of reassembling a kind of order to family life shattered by the loss of husband and father is the best therapy a widow could have.

There are so many legal matters to look into, so many changes to attend to that she does not have time to dwell on her grief.

Furthermore, she is disturbed by the chaos of her affairs. She feels a compulsion to put things as right as possible, eager to be able to control her life again.

Symbolic of this restlessness and impatience at loose ends, I believe, was my impulse to clean out cupboards and closets and to straighten chests of drawers, instead of pacing miserably, nervously.

Physically tired then at last I would fill my mind with calculations on the state of family finances and make long mental lists of legal things which needed attending, until I fell asleep.

The widow will probably need photostatic copies of her husband's death certificate.

Life insurance companies, mortgage companies, and all companies holding life insured installment contracts need these as legal proof of the death of her husband.

She must notify utility companies, department stores, auto insurance firms, and all creditors of her new status as a widow. Under her own name, say Mrs. John Doe, she must assume the legal responsibility for these debts. She will become owner after proper legal steps to homes and automobiles purchased jointly, as well as money in joint bank accounts, at the passing of her husband.

There are insurance papers to fill out. If there is a will, it must be filed in probate court.

Needless to say, even the family with almost no assets is wise to consult a qualified lawyer to see her safely through these many details. A widow with considerable property or business probably already has the services of her husband's lawyer to guide her. But if she does not, she would be foolish indeed to tackle the complexities without one.

Government pensions and allowances may mean nothing to her at all or everything, depending upon her age, finances and number of children.

In Canada a widow with children is eligible for a mother's allowance, which is paid on the same scale as social assistance. A non-working widow, with two children and assets of no more than $250, would receive $104.50 a month.

When her children reach the age of 16, they are not eligible for allowance benefits unless single persons.

(they can show satisfactory progress in school. If recommended by their schools, they are eligible until age 18.

However, if the widow is unemployed when her children are past the age limit, she is still entitled to the monthly $35 social assistance allowance for single persons.

Make Piping Hot Lobster Bisque For a Delicious Lenten Dinner

Lenten dishes can be interesting. Try, for example, this delicious lobster bisque made from frozen lobster and see if you don't get raves from all the family. The following recipes for codfish cakes and halibut steaks are just two more reasons why you can truly enjoy your meals during Lent.

LOBSTER BISQUE

One (14-oz.) can frozen lobster, 1 small onion, sliced; 6 cups milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 1/2 cup heavy cream, 3 tablespoons sherry. Dash cayenne.

Thaw lobster meat; cut into bite-sized chunks. Add onion to milk; scald over boiling water. Strain to remove onion when scalding temperature is reached.

Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Add hot milk gradually and cook over low heat until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add lobster and pimiento. Heat over boiling water for 10 minutes. Shortly before serving stir in cream, sherry and cayenne. Serve piping hot, garnished with a sprinkling of finely-chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

CODFISH CAKES

One pound cod fillets (2 cups cooked and flaked), 2 1/2 cups diced raw potatoes (2 cups cooked and mashed), 1/2 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter, salt to taste, dash pepper, 1 egg (beaten), 1/2 cup fine, dry bread crumbs or finely chopped nuts, fat for frying.

Cook and flake fillets. Cook diced potatoes in boiling, salted water until tender, then drain. Pan fry onion over low heat in 2 tablespoons of butter until soft but not brown. Add cooked potato to onion together. Stir in flaked cod. Season to taste. Add beaten egg, combine thoroughly. Shape into flat cakes. Coat with fine, dry bread crumbs or finely chopped nuts. Pan fry cakes in hot fat until golden brown. Serve piping hot with or without a sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

HALIBUT STEAKS

COUNTRY STYLE

Two pounds halibut steaks, salt and pepper, 1/2 cup chopped green onions and tops, 1 pint commercial sour cream.

If steaks are frozen, allow to thaw at refrigerator temperature. Season with salt and pepper, place in a shallow, greased, baking dish. Top with finely chopped green onions and their tops. Spread thick sour cream over steaks and topping. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

DIETER'S DELIGHT

Core a bright red McIntosh apple, but do not peel. Cut in lengthwise slices about 1/2 inch thick. Spread with creamed cheese seasoned with celery salt, dip in finely chopped nuts.

Girl Saves Tots, Dies in Fire

EASTON, Maine (UP)—A young Canadian baby sitter dropped three children from a window in a blazing home and then perished when she returned to recover a suitcase. The baby sitter was identified as Rowena Jones of Field, N.B. Fire officials said she dropped the Robbins' children, Cherry, five; Deborah, three, and Tony, one, into a snowbank. All were unhurt.

$1,500 for Widow in Car Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Toronto widow, Mrs. Thora McDonald, has accepted $1,500 in B.C. Supreme Court in settlement of her claim for the death of her husband 14 months ago. Alexander McDonald was visiting here when he was struck by a car Nov. 4, 1956. He died Dec. 22.

Floods, Slides Hit California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lowland areas of northern and central California were beset by minor floods, washouts and slides today and some schools were closed in southern California by lashing wind and rain. More rain was forecast. The Southern Pacific's Shasta Daylight No. 9 was hit by a slide and stopped near Dunsuir but no one was hurt. The train was moving from Portland toward San Francisco.

Police Hunt Armed Convicts

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Rural police were ordered out today to hunt for 21 armed convicts who escaped during a revolt in a Galapagos Island penal colony and forced an American yachtman to take them to the mainland. The search was ordered in Esmeraldas and Manabí provinces, near the Colombian border, but there was little hope that the men would be found in the dense jungle area.

'MEMORIAL TO BOYS WHO DIED'

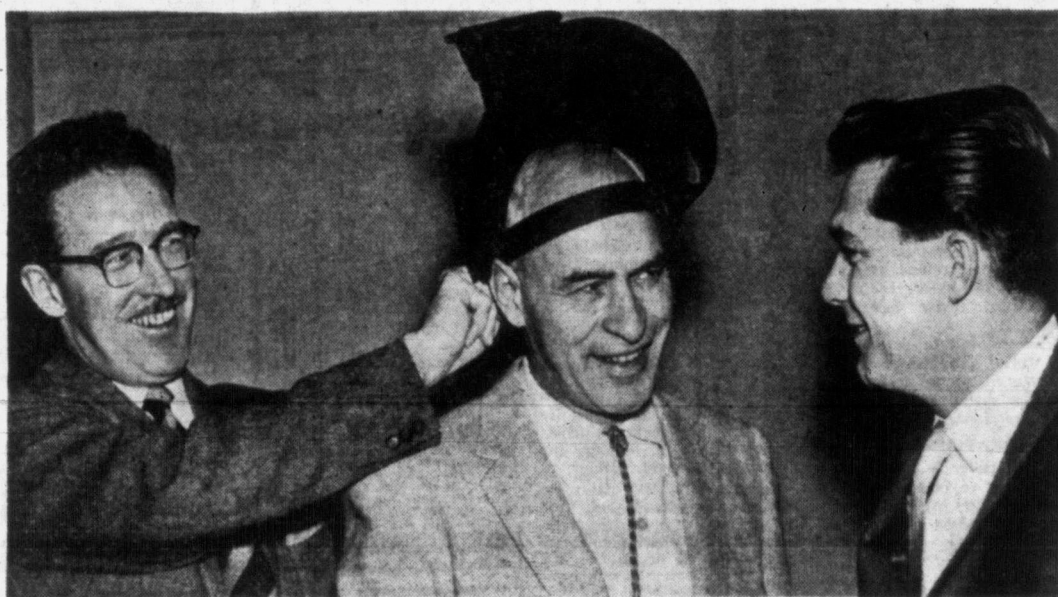

Manchester United Wins Its 'First Out'

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Manchester United defeated Sheffield Wednesday 3-0 in a drama-packed English soccer cup match tonight—United's first game since seven of its stars were killed in the Munich plane crash Feb. 6. A sellout crowd of 62,000, many of them wearing black ties and armbands, turned up at the Old Trafford Stadium. Youngsters replacing the dead or injured veterans, produced the spirit that made United one of the world's best teams. United led 1-0 at halftime on a goal by 19-year-old wing Seamus Brennan. Brennan got the second goal in the 70th minute and 18-year-old centre forward Alex Dawson made it 3-0 with a goal six minutes from the end of the game. It was the sort of victory that would have brought a smile to the face of Manchester manager Matt Busby, now lying injured in a Munich hospital. Most of the reserves were youngsters Busby had discovered playing in junior soccer. "This was our memorial to the boys who died at Munich, and also to those still lying injured in hospital," said goalkeeper Harry Gregg. Gregg, 23, and fullback Billy Foulkes escaped uninjured from the Munich crash and both played Wednesday night.

GALLUP POLL GIVES JOHN D. 60% RATING

TORONTO (BUP)—Gallup Poll of Canada reported today that 60 per cent of Canadians approve the job being done by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. The nation-wide poll, conducted by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, said that in a similar survey last November, only 51 per cent of the voters approved of Mr. Diefenbaker's handling his job as prime minister. On a regional basis, 68 per cent of those in the four western provinces approved Mr. Diefenbaker, 66 per cent in Ontario, 44 per cent in Quebec and 61 per cent in the Maritimes.

More than 350 contractors have registered for the convention which

Russia Backs Nuclear-Free Zone Project

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia tonight promised to respect an atom-free zone in Central Europe if the United States, Britain and France did the same. The Soviet government declared in a statement that a pledge from the nuclear-armed powers is needed for "the effective implementation" of a Polish plan for an atom-free zone. Such a pledge, it said, would mean that states in the atom-free zone—East and West Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia—could not be armed with nuclear and rocket weapons from outside. It would bind the pledging powers to respect the status of the zone. "The Soviet government is prepared to assume the aforementioned obligations, provided the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France do likewise," the statement said. Tonight's statement said an atom-free zone on the lines suggested by Poland would help other steps aimed at eliminating the dangers of atomic war. It said the plan would help world peace because central Europe is "one of the most dangerous regions."

BANS NUCLEAR WEAPONS

The Soviet statement said NATO forces directly face those of the Warsaw Pact with an unusual concentration of troops and various modern weapons. The Polish plan, first proposed by Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki last October, calls for the prohibition of all nuclear weapons in the designated countries.

In addition, it calls upon the Big Four powers to pledge not to use nuclear weapons against the zone or try to arm their Continued on Page 27

24 Sailors Swept to Death As Raging Sea Upsets Boat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Twenty-seven sailors who had abandoned the sinking Italian freighter Bonitas were pitched into the stormy Atlantic Tuesday night when their lifeboat capsized as a rescue ship tried to pluck them to safety. Three were saved and 24 were swept away by 20-foot seas. Five bodies have been recovered. Throughout the night, the American liner President Adams, three navy destroyer escorts and the French steamship Cavalaire searched vainly for the missing men in poor visibility. The stricken freighter's crew abandoned ship in one lifeboat shortly before 6 p.m., several hours after the ship had sent an SOS from her position 120 miles east of Cape Lookout, N.C.

Gov't Rejects Move To Probe Institutions

(See story on page 27.) An official inquiry into conditions in provincial mental health institutions was called for by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan in the legislature today. Mr. Strachan asked leave of the House to introduce a motion to this effect, but was voted down by the government majority. The rejected resolution referred to "serious allegations" made against B.C. mental health services by Dr. G. G. Ferguson, executive secretary of the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association in a published letter to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black. The proposal of an inquiry by a recognized medical body was made in the letter, and Mr. Strachan urged the legislature to approve it. The inquiry should advise the legislature of the requirements necessary "to ensure the best possible mental health services for our people," he said.

EGYPT-SUDAN SETTLE DISPUTE

New Particulars Revealed Today

(Special to The Times)
(See Also Page 3)

VANCOUVER — The crown charged today that former Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers received considerations to a total of more than $15,000 in a conspiracy with others involving the issuance of forest management licences.

The figure was disclosed in particulars of the charges filed at the preliminary hearing in the bribery-conspiracy against Sommers, three other individuals, and four companies.

Besides listing payments the Crown charges was made to Sommers between March, 1953, and December, 1954, the dossier of particulars charged that C. D. Schultz, another of the accused, made commission arrangements with H. W. Gray, on government business.

It said Schultz "arranged with Gray to pay 10 per cent of commission on government business to Pacific Coast Services to be paid over to Sommers, later re-arranged to 5 per cent; later to 3 1/2 per cent and later to 4 per cent."

Schultz also was charged with arranging meetings between accountants of Pacific Coast and the C. D. Schultz Company regarding "reconciliation monies received for three-way split to assist in Pacific Coast Services' accounts being made up from information received." Schultz was also accused of instructing his company staff to change entries in books of account and rewrite certain ledger sheets "and of instructing the staff to 'remove incriminating records of the company'."

The particulars listed transactions involving more than $100,000 in the issuance of cheques and payments made by B.C. Forest Products, Limited, during the period from November, 1953, to December, 1957.

Defence counsel launched a strong attack against the particulars document in its original form. It was finally filed after deletion of an "effects" section which showed how the money had allegedly flowed from one to the other of the accused.

The defence declared this highly improper.

The particulars in the charges against Sommers showed the following entries: Rugs to the value of $607.29, paid for by Pacific Coast Services—one of the accused firms—in September, 1953; $2,500 cash from H. W. Gray, another of the accused, Dec. 1, 1953; $1,000 in cash from H. W. Gray, Feb. 5, 1954; six $500 bonds from H. W. Gray between March 4 and May 18, 1954; $750 from H. W. Gray between Continued on Page 27

Statesman Spends Good Day

FRANCE (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill is suffering from pneumonia at the base of the lung and pleurisy, his doctors announced tonight. A medical bulletin said the 83-year-old statesman had a good night and has passed a comfortable day.

The bulletin was signed by Lord Moran, his personal physician who flew here today from London, and by Dr. David Roberts, who has been attending him here.

Churchill had a cigar in the morning and second in the afternoon, Dr. Roberts said.

Dr. Roberts reported earlier that Churchill spent a "very good night" following the illness which has kept him in bed since Monday. Since his last major illness, a sudden paralysis which struck him in 1953, Churchill has several times had colds, but no serious illness had been reported.

The 1953 attack paralyzed his left side for a few days. Reports at the time described this as "nervous fatigue."

Churchill has had several outings since his arrival here, but last month cancelled a proposed flying visit to London to vote in a House of Commons debate. Lady Churchill flew here from Britain Tuesday to join her husband and their actress daughter Sarah at the villa of his publisher just outside Monaco.

Churchill's son, Randolph, in New York on a lecture tour, said he had been in touch with London and was not alarmed about his father. He said he plans no change in itinerary at present.

Children Roar Welcome

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—Some 60,000 Brisbane school children braved a heavy rain to roar a boisterous welcome to Queen Mother Elizabeth as she drove round two Brisbane stadiums in an open landau today.

TORY STAND 'SILLY'—PEARSON

Battle for Votes Centred On Crucial Jobless Issue

From Times News Services

Unemployment remains the dominating issue in the election campaign as leaders of the four parties keep hammering away at causes and remedies.

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson says the Progressive Conservatives' argument that the Liberals were warned last spring of recession is "silly." The government report which Prime Minister Diefenbaker

also predicted that in 1957 national income, employment and business would increase, the Liberal leader said in a national television broadcast.

He appeared Tuesday night along with Mr. Diefenbaker on the CBC's live political program just before rejoining his campaign train in search of votes in Toronto and southwestern Ontario. Mr. Diefenbaker

was in Montreal. Mr. Pearson has maintained all through the early part of the campaign that the Conservatives are responsible for aggravating unemployment because they didn't take speedy action last autumn to meet the economic recession through a bold, frontal attack.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A lesson in the gentle art of wheedling (which most wives practice on their husbands) was given in the House Tuesday by the evergreen Tom Uphill, who has represented the coal mining area of Fernie for 38 years.

A lone campaigner, a one-man Labor party, Tom is too wise a bird to attack a majority government when he wants something done for his constituents.

So, in preparing the way for a plaintive appeal on behalf of the unemployed miners of Fernie, he began by referring to "dear old friends" on the government side and said he was sorry Premier Bennett was out of the House as he wanted to put in "a good word" for him.

"This had the desired effect of making everyone wonder what this 'good word' could be."

"It's really too bad he isn't here," said Tom sadly, doubtless hoping this would make the premier wish he had been.

Then, turning his friendly full-moon face towards the empty chair vacated by Health Minister Eric Martin, he said: "I wanted to give him a boost, too... he did me a very good turn once and I never forget a good turn."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner returned to his seat at that moment and wily Mr. Uphill practised a similar technique on him, wrapping up his bouquet with a reference to what the great British statesman, Lloyd George, would have done in the circumstances.

The Fernie member then enjoyed the government by telling how B.C. Liberal Premier, John Oliver had given $2,000 to Fernie in a similar crisis many years ago, and said he wished his dear friend Highways Minister Gagliardi could have been in the House.

Lo and behold, Mr. Gagliardi materialized a minute or so later. Mr. Uphill worked on him so successfully that the minister promised to do all he could and said: "Come over to my office and we'll see if we can figure out something."

An unexpected admirer of Tom Uphill is Eric Charman, president of Victoria Progressive Conservative Association.

Impaired Drivers Get 21-Day Terms

Two men were given 21-day jail terms when they pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to second offence charges of impaired driving.

They were Francis Samuel Robbins, 3255 Douglas, and John M. Ryles, Glidden Road.

The Conservatives, he said, made a wrong diagnosis of the situation. They thought the economy would brighten after a brief decline.

Instead, things worsened. Money and "political tranquillizers" were running out so the Conservatives called an election to avoid a national accounting.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker countered with the promise that he and his Progressive Conservative government will do "everything that can be done" to see that no Canadians suffer from unemployment.

The $1,850,000,000 works program he announced in Ottawa Tuesday was "to ensure development of our country and to provide, as well, help to Canadians, work to Canadians and an opportunity for the better things of life." (See page 27.)

He renewed his attempts to discount the Liberal party's major campaign, pledge to counter unemployment—the promise of $400,000,000 in tax cuts.

TAX CUTS NOT NEEDED

The whole essence of the former Liberal government's policy, he said, was that tax cuts were unnecessary. The Liberals last year had described Conservative tax-cut demands as irresponsible.

It was a Conservative government last fall which acted immediately to cut taxes by $178,000,000 a year.

Mr. Diefenbaker quoted Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson as having said the Conservative government shouldn't be blamed for the unemployment situation.

At Minnedosa, Man., Social Credit leader Solon Low Tuesday night also outlined a program to help relieve Canada's unemployment problem, predicting the total number of unemployed will reach 600,000 by March 15.

Mr. Low said the problem should be met by:

- Reduced income and sales taxes.
- A huge public works program on a national—not regional—scale.
- Immediate bonus or dividend payments to old age pensioners, the blind and needy families.

QUICK RESULTS

Mr. Low said the bonus payments would have an immediate result. Persons receiving them would spend money at home and revive local business.

The reduced taxes and public works program would be long-range plans designed to keep business active and reduce surpluses.

MISSING CITY MAN SHOWS UP AT CLINIC

Amnesia victim Arthur Yurkowski, 36, 695 Craigflower, showed up Tuesday afternoon at Crease Clinic, where he went on advice of relatives he visited at Chilliwack.

He telephoned his wife at about 2.45 p.m. to say that he was safe after going missing at noon Monday from what was an otherwise normal day of sales and deliveries.

Last June he was gone for a week, finally showing at Calgary General Hospital where he recovered his memory, unable to explain how he got there.

Woman Loses Appeal Against Estate Terms

The appeal of a Nanaimo widow for a greater share in her late husband's estate was dismissed by the B.C. Appeal Court in Victoria late Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran gave judgment at 5.15 p.m. after a two-day hearing.

Emily Amelia Bearce appealed the terms of the will of Irving Asa Bearce, former manager of a lumber company, who died at Nanaimo, Nov. 12, 1953.

Mr. Bearce, formerly of 533 Arbutus, Nanaimo, will be $20,000 to his widow and the balance of his estate to two daughters by a previous marriage.

T. G. Norris, Q.C., for Mrs. Bearce, argued under terms of the "Testators' Family Maintenance Act" that the will did not sufficiently provide for her.

At one point in this argument, Mr. Justice O'Halloran observed that the widow of a successful man could not always expect

Martin Spoke 'Half-Truths' Says Alderman

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ald. George Miller claimed Tuesday that provincial Health Minister Eric Martin spoke only half-truths when he said Vancouver gets the highest per capita provincial aid of any Canadian city.

Mr. Miller is deputy chairman of the city's administration board and city council's financial expert.

He said the city did not get anything like the amount taken from it in provincial taxes.

"We get nothing like our fair share of the five-per-cent sales tax and we get a mere pittance from the gasoline tax which is supposed to be for building our highways," said Mr. Miller.

He said other B.C. cities get higher per capita grants and the government pays for highways through other municipalities.

'Forbidden Zone' French Proposal

PARIS (Reuters) — The French cabinet decided today to create a forbidden zone along the entire frontier between Tunisia and Algeria, in which no one will be allowed to live or travel.

A government spokesman announced the cabinet decision but declined to give details on how the ban would be applied.

He said France would reject Tunisia's call for the Bizerte naval base to be turned over to NATO or leased to any other party but the French. "Bizerte will remain the French port it is," he said.

The United Nations Security Council Tuesday adjourned its debate on Tunisia's complaint and France's countering protest that Algerian rebels received aid from Tunisia.

It was agreed to adjourn so that the United States and Britain could use their good offices in the dispute.

All-Canadian Unions Backed By Socred

PORT ALBERNI — Social Credit favors legislation to protect individual trade unions in Canada which might wish to throw off international affiliation, William Mullett, candidate for Comox-Alberni in the March 31 federal election, said here.

He said the British Columbia-Alberta regional Social Credit convention in Vancouver passed his resolution stating Social Credit feels Canadian labor unions would be considerably strengthened if controlled in Canada.

While speaking at the convention last weekend, Mr. Mullett said $80,000,000 went to the United States from Canada last year in the form of union dues, and that less than $1,000,000 came back to this country.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to select a winner will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sheila Younge, aged 12, of Berkeley, Calif., for her question:

Who Invented the Electric Battery?

His name was Alessandro Volta and he was born in Como, Italy, four days after Valentine's Day of 1745. He lectured and demonstrated his little battery to the scientists throughout Europe. He was greatly respected. He was made a senator of Lombardy and Napoleon ordered a medal struck in his honor. The last of his full and happy 82 years were spent in his native Como. There they put up his statue. The whole world honored the busy inventor by giving his name to the volt, the unit of push which charges the wires with electricity.

Volta's work rests on the efforts of another Italian scientist, Luigi Galvani. In fact, many great brains were necessary to tame the force of electricity to its present usefulness. A bit of knowledge was gathered here and there through the centuries as this man and that man applied his brains to the problem. The founding fathers of electric power are drawn from many nations—Gilbert, Galvani, Volta, Oersted, Ampere, Ohm, Faraday, Edison and others.

Galvani discovered electricity in the muscles of dissected frogs. When the legs of a damp frog were touched with two different metals they twitched. The metals stimulated a jolt of electricity in the muscles. Volta was vitally interested in this experiment and developed it further.

He produced a small current of electricity with two kinds of metal and brine-soaked wads of cardboard. This was the first electric battery. Volta called it a crown of cups or pile. It was a tall pile of small plates. The two metals used were zinc and silver. The pairs were sandwiched between disks of cardboard soaked in salty water. The sandwiches of metal and cardboard were piled one on top of the other.

Battery Developed One Volt

This first battery is called a voltaic cell. It generates a little more than one volt of electricity. The current may be led off by a circuit of copper wire. The wire forms a long loop with both ends fixed to the battery. In his lectures, Volta demonstrated the slight electric shock from his battery. He also cut the wire circuit and fixed the ends to separate bars of zinc and silver. The metal rods were placed in goblets of salt water. He was able to show electrical activity between the two rods or electrodes.

Volta's battery worked by chemical means. Such a small battery could never produce a great current of electricity. Before electricity could be put to much useful work, a better way had to be found to generate voltage—the pushing force which charges the wires with electric current.

It was known that electricity is related to magnetism. An electric current behaves like a magnet. Michael Faraday, a humble Scottish boy, discovered that voltage is generated when a copper disk rotates through a magnetic field. Volta's work was completed for everyday use when the dynamo was invented. The weak chemical battery showed the way and the dynamo produced a powerhouse of voltage.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to George Gavali, age 14, of Philadelphia, Penna., for her question:

Where is the largest river?

Three great rivers compete for the title of World's Longest River. No one has ever really proved which of the three really merits the title in miles. It is no easy job to measure the exact length of a river stretching thousands of miles. You would have to keep in the exact centre of the current around all the bends in order to be accurate.

The people of Africa claim that the Nile is the longest river. From Lake Victoria to the sea it is 3,473 miles long.
